By DAVID DIETZ

(First of two articles)

Marin County is usually extolled as one of America's wealthiest enclaves — 35.2 per cent of the families now earn more than $10,000 a year. Seldom is it recognized that the county has an inconspicuous poor population the size of Mill Valley.

A report released last month by the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity supports this. In 1966, the average family income in Marin stood loftily at $8,471, higher than all but a handful of the nation's 3,135 counties.

But in the same year, the report said, 4,540 out of Marin's 60,497 families were considered poor — a 75.6 per cent increase over 1960. The total, however, remains substantially lower than the state and national averages.

(Under federal standards, a single person in Marin would be considered impoverished with a maximum annual income of $1,500; a family of four, about $3,500, and a seven-member family, about $5,000.)

Also, there is an undetermined number just above the poverty level who are known as the "psychologically poor." These people may eat a bit better but suffer just as much.

The plight of the poor is increased by the wealth of their surroundings. Encircled by unusual opulence, Marin's poor find it especially difficult — and irritating — to live.

The high standards inflate rents and food prices; a lack of large industry squeezes the job market, and high cost rudimentary public transportation keeps needed services beyond reach of many.

Poverty crisscrosses all age groups. Using county welfare statistics as a basis, it can be estimated that about 60 per cent of Marin's poor are elderly, although this number is declining. In July 1967, there were 1,182 persons receiving old age security; 1,150 this July. During the same period, the number of households receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children rose from 734 to 798.

In 1960, about 75 per cent of all families considered poor in

Battered Youths Told To Campaign Against Humphrey

COMBINED AP & UPI

CHICAGO — The leader of antiwar demonstrators, declaring "the dirty deed has been done by the Democratic Party," today told his bloodied followers to go home and begin work against presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey.

But even as Dave Dellinger, national chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, spoke to newsmen, young protesters in Grant Park were trying to whip up enthusiasm for a new march on the Democratic National Convention hall.

Dellinger said the clash between thousands of antiwar protesters and national guardsmen near the convention hotel headquarters last night had "achieved a kind of tragic success."

"I think the American people have seen the repressive nature of the City of Chicago and what happens to people who try to legitimately protest this country's involvement in Vietnam," Dellinger said.

"I can't ask these people to stay here and be beaten again tonight," Dellinger said.

"The dirty deed has been done by the Democratic Party. They have nominated another loyal militarist and I am asking my people to go home and work against him and all the policy he stands for."

A few blocks away a growing crowd of several hundred young protesters listened to emotional antiestablishment speeches and leaders among the group said they planned to muster up enough followers for another attempt to march on the International Amphitheatre.

An attempt to march on the convention hall yesterday led to a bloody battle with police and guardsmen. It swirled

Corte Madera Cyclist Killed In Auto Crash

A 17-year-old Corte Madera youth died yesterday of injuries suffered in a motorcycle-auto accident in San Francisco.

Thomas Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Mitchell of 574 Chapman Drive, collided with a car driven by Richard Steinhard of San Francisco, according to the San Francisco coroner.

The accident occurred at 22nd Avenue and Kirkham Street in the Sunset District at 1:23 p.m.

Mitchell was taken to San Francisco General Hospital where efforts to revive him were unsuccessful, according to hospital officials.

An autopsy was to be done today at the San Francisco coroner's office.

Mitchell would have been a senior at Redwood High School this fall. Born in San Francisco, he grew up in Corte Madera where he attended elementary schools.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Jeanne, of the home.

Roaring Fire Demolishes Houseboat

A spectacular fire demolished a houseboat docked at Kappas Yacht Harbor, Gate 6, Richardson Bay, this morning before county and Coast Guard units could reach the scene.

Residents cast nearby boats adrift when a quarter-mile of winding pier prevented firemen from carrying hoses to the blazing water home.

Three county fire engines and a 40-foot patrol boat quenched the blaze shortly after 7:30 a.m., about one hour after their arrival, firemen said. Firemen had to install a portable pump on the pier before they were able to join the fight.

The boat, belonging to Berry S. Thomas of Berkeley, was occupied by an unidentified woman, firemen said. She was uninjured. Firemen were unable to locate her at the scene.

The blaze caused damage estimated at $14,000 to the boat and $2,000 to its contents. The cause is under investigation.

Tax Rate In Larkspur To Drop 1.5 Cents

Larkspur City Council last night adopted a $950,448 budget for fiscal 1968-69 and cut the tax rate 1.5 cents. (Other Larkspur Council stories, page 12.)

Councilmen set the city's tax rate at $1.885 per $100 assessed valuation for the area served by the Larkspur sanitary system.

The tax rate for the area not served by the sanitary system was set at $1.24 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget is $97,244 higher than last year's budget, but Robert C. Bundy, administrative assistant, said the new total included carryover funds.

Cut from the budget was $3,000 for capital outlay in the library fund after City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reported there were no immediate plans for building.

Councilmen moved to cut the tax rate after Bundy reported that the assessed valuation of the city had increased 5.82 per cent in the past year.

Councilman William G. Fleckles suggested that there be a tax rate cut instead of holding to last year's $1.90, and Councilman Neil R. Brixon agreed.

Then the council voted to make the cut in the sanitary tax rate from a proposed 66 cents to 64.5 cents.

Councilmen also passed a resolution that the revenue to be raised by property tax was $393,266.

Former Councilman Lesly A. Daveler suggested that the city reduce its drainage tax to compensate for the tax levied by the Ross Valley Flood Control District.

Bathurst noted that drainage work is needed and the city "couldn't look to the flood control district" to finance it.

The breakdown on the $1.885 tax rate is general fund 90 cents, sanitary, 64.5 cents, library 10.5 cents, recreation 7 cents, drainage 7 cents, and retirement 9.5 cents.

Head For The Beach, Bay To Avoid Heat And Smog

Marin residents flocked to the beaches and the bay yesterday and today to escape high temperatures and smog.

San Rafael, which hit 93 yesterday, had a noon reading of 89 degrees today.

State park Department employees reported Stinson Beach was crowded with sunbathers and swimmers cooling off in the ocean. Calling it one of the busiest days at the beach, they expect more tomorrow with the temperature expected to climb again.

High temperatures and calm winds combined to cause smog conditions at an eye irritating level in San Rafael today. Theodore McHugh at the local Air Pollution Control Center reported the smog readings have been high for August and are more typical of September and October.

More eye irritation can be expected tomorrow when a high of 95 degrees is expected for Marin County. The low tonight may reach 60 degrees. Westerly winds are expected to increase tomorrow to 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Brother Hears Brother Tell Version Of Deaths

By STEPHEN COOK

The brother of Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 24, took the witness stand in Marin Superior Court today to offer testimony which could send his kin to the gas chamber.

Richard Sommerhalder, 21, told the jury of seven men and five women that he heard John Sommerhalder describe the conditions under which Curtis and Shirley Ackley met their death the night of Jan. 12 in their Santa Venetia house trailer.

He also testified that he (Richard) stole the murder gun, a .32 revolver, from the Ackley house trailer the day before the grisly killings.

Under cross-examination, Richard Sommerhalder's testimony threw some doubt on Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales's contention that John Sommerhalder and Kenneth Allen Preston acted alone in the double murder.

The accused Sommerhalder

Humphrey Stalls On Running Mate

Victor In Giant Landslide

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey delayed selection of a running mate today, reportedly doubtful of the vote-getting appeal of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, considered the frontrunner.

Close Humphrey aides said shortly after noon that no decision had yet been made but that one was hoped for within hours.

Meanwhile, a new name popped into the speculation. Sources close to Gov. John Burns of Hawaii said that Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, who keynoted the convention Monday night, was under consideration.

WAR HERO

Inouye, a one-armed war hero of Japanese-American descent, was proposed as a vice-presidential candidate last spring by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Also at mid-morning came word from Hyannis Port, Mass., that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will not attend the closing session of the Democratic National Convention. Instead he will address the convention in a closed circuit telecast in connection with a special ceremony in honor of his late brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

TRUCE UNLIKELY

Meanwhile, the possibility that Humphrey might make a dramatic gesture of reconciliation by offering the vice presidency to either Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy or Sen. George S. McGovern appeared to have

'DOWN TO THE WIRE'

Nixon Expecting A Rugged Battle

MIAMI (UPI) — Sources close to vacationing Richard M. Nixon said today he expects his presidential race with Democrat Hubert Humphrey to be a close contest "that goes down to the wire."

"We know he is a good campaigner," said a Nixon aide who refused to be identified. "We expect a close race with him, one that goes down to the wire."

Nixon, who telephoned Humphrey earlier today to congratulate him for winning the Democratic nomination, withheld any public comment on the Chicago convention.

"We feel the American people are tired of petty accusations as in the Democratic convention," said Nixon's aide. He predicted the Chicago turmoil would damage Humphrey's chances, and charged that the convention bared a lack of leadership within the Democratic Party and a disregard for the wishes of the people in favor of obedience to "party bosses."

Members of the Nixon camp generally refrained from making judgements about the Democratic convention and the demonstrations in Chicago streets. But one aide said reports of newsmen being beaten indicated "something is wrong."

Nixon has been vacationing in the Miami area for more than a week. While Humphrey was embroiled in the turmoil that has been Chicago, Nixon sailed leisurely through the Florida Keys and the Bahamas on an air-conditioned houseboat.

Although the Republican candidate gave no official reaction, he and his aides have made it known that for months they have counted on Humphrey winning the nomination and have planned their campaign accordingly.

LBJ Applauds Convention, Raps Violence

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, while applauding the nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey as Democratic presidential candidate, let it be known again today that he deplores violence and law-breaking of the kind that coincided with Humphrey's selection.

"The President always deplores violence," press secretary George Christian told newsmen who asked about Johnson's attitude toward the violence last night in Chicago. "He has always believed that people should abide by the law."

Asked if Johnson deplored violence by police and National Guardsmen as well as private citizens, he replied, "All kinds of violence."

Declaring that no decision had been made, Christian added that Johnson "has had many invitations" to attend the party parley and that "certainly there are many people there for whom he holds affection" and to whom he is grateful.

Banker's Small Son Kidnapped, Held For $250,000 Ransom

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — The wealthy parents whose 4-year-old son was kidnaped from their home are willing to pay the $250,000 ransom demanded for their only child and trust police to catch the abductor later.

The kidnaping of Stanley Stalford Jr. yesterday occurred only a few blocks away from where another $250,000 kidnaping took place a year and a half ago.

Beverly Hills police today refused to say whether the kidnaper had contacted the elder Stalford, board chairman of the Fidelity Bank, or whether a rendezvous had been attempted.

"The family is now chiefly concerned with paying the ransom," said Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson. "The parents want first of all to be permitted to contact the kidnaper or kidnapers."

"They are anxious to pay off the ransom that is necessary and then hope that law enforcement agents will catch the kidnaper later."

The curly-haired youngster was clad only in a blue and white bathing suit when he was taken from the family home yesterday morning by the gunman, who gained entry to the one-story home by posing as a workman "looking for an electrical hookup."

Mrs. Joanne Stalford, an attractive blonde, was alone in the home with her son. She said the man first demanded cash and jewels. When she told him there was no money in the home, he bound her legs with masking tape and dragged her screaming into a closet.

She quoted him as saying:

"I'm going to take the child with me. I will contact your husband later. Listen closely. I want $250,000 in $20 bills."

The distraught parents remained in their home today with police detectives while more than 100 police, sheriff's deputies and FBI agents continued the manhunt. A police helicopter circled over the home a few blocks south of Sunset Boulevard.

The kidnaping of Stanley took place only four blocks from the home where the son of another banker, Herbert J. Young, was abducted in April, 1967.

Young paid $250,000 ransom for the safe return of his son, Kenneth, then 11. The kidnaper and the money have never been tracked down.

Lynda Bird's Husband Reassigned

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — Marine Capt. Charles Robb, President Johnson's son-in-law, has been reassigned from an infantry company command to the 1st Marine Division supply section.

Robb, 28, the husband of Lynda Bird Johnson, had commanded I Co., 3rd Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment for four months in field and security roles 20 miles south of Da Nang.

A Marine spokesman said that when reassigned, Robb was the third most senior company commander in the 1st Division and that the reassignment was routine.

Robb's new job involves supply planning at the 1st Division headquarters on the western fringe of Da Nang.

Tax Rates Are Going Up In The City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Property owners will face a tax increase of $1.43 per $100 assessed valuation, City Controller Nathan Cooper told the Board of Supervisors' finance committee yesterday.

The hike would bring the tax to $10.23 per $100 of assessed valuation, compared with the record of $10.61 in 1966-67. The rate for the 1967-68 fiscal year was $8.80.

However, property owners will pay more than in 1966-67 because home have been assessed much higher said committee members.

The increase is necessary to finance the record spending budget of $503 million, said Cooper. About $290 million of that will come from state and federal funds.

If the supervisors officially set the new rate, it will mean the owner of a $25,000 house will pay $640 in property taxes.

His calculations allowed no income from the 1 per cent commuter tax, said Cooper, "because of the legal doubts surrounding it."

Poor Join Rioting In Mexico

During the night 46 armored cars rolled up the Paseo de la Reforma Boulevard as troops tried to control the rioting that has gripped this city of seven million since July 26.

DEATH THREATS

Screaming "Death to Ordaz!" the mob tried repeatedly to break into the main plaza in front of the presidential palace last night demanding the resignation of Mexico City's police chief and release of 86 persons they call political prisoners. The mob hurled bottles and rocks at police and troops but failed to break through the cordon.

A sniper opened up from a rooftop overlooking the plaza earlier in the day and troops began firing into the air. The sniper escaped.

SLUM DWELLERS

Student demonstrations began July 26 when police broke up mobs smashing shop windows. Troops later were called in and the students began protesting against alleged brutality.

Informants said more than 1,000 persons have been arrested in the past two days. Dozens of persons were reported wounded.

Vietnam Talks

PARIS (UPI)—Vietnam war talks between North Vietnam and the United States were in recess today until next Wednesday. The delegations held their 19th meeting yesterday but Ambassador W. Averell Harriman of the United States reported "no movement."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Storm Havoc

TOKYO (AP) — Tropical storm Trix cut across southwestern Honshu today, leaving six persons dead and two others missing.

National police said 2,060 persons were left homeless in Kyushu, Shikoku and western Honshu as heavy downpours brought by Trix inundated their homes. Fifteen persons were reported injured.

Talks On Pueblo?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department indicates a new meeting has been arranged with North Korean representatives to discuss release of the USS Pueblo and her 82 surviving crew members.

A press officer gave no details on when the meeting might be held. He had said 24 hours earlier North Korea had not responded to a U.S. proposal for a new session.

Russ Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union launched a satellite last night into an orbit almost identical to that of the Soyuz-One Cosmos shot which killed Col. Vladimir Komarov April 23, 1967. There was no indication the new satellite, known as Cosmos 238, was manned.

Safer Roads

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 17,580 potentially dangerous highway locations have been made safer at a cost of $1.2 billion under a new program, the Bureau of Public Roads says, and another 20,000 are to be corrected at a cost of $2.1 billion.

China Refugees

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong authorities gave up efforts to make 99 refugees from Red China return to the mainland and arrested them yesterday on charges of illegal immigration.

The 99 were among more than 200 refugees who fled from China aboard 18 sampans Tuesday and landed on one of this colony's outlying islands. Authorities towed the sampans back to Chinese waters Tuesday night, but eight sampans stole back to Hong Kong's Cheung Chau Island under cover of darkness and fog.

The 99 vowed that no matter how many times police towed them away, they would return.

Death Sentence

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — David Knox, a British official from the Bahamas, was sentenced to death on spy charges yesterday by a Haitian military court, but Haitian sources expect the sentence to be commuted to a prison term.

He was convicted of attempting to overthrow President Francois Duvalier.

Knox, 46, was information director for the Bahamas. Duvalier indicated at a recent news conference that he would be spared the death penalty and expressed hope that Haiti's relations with Britain would improve.

Mail By Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mail to Canada and Mexico will be transported by air in the future with no increase in postage rates, the Post Office Department says. First class mail in the United States already moves primarily by air at a 6-cents-a-letter rate.

Early Retirement

BONN (UPI)—The cabinet yesterday sent to parliament a draft bill that would allow West German air force jet pilots to retire at age 40. The measure was designed to end the drain of air force pilots who quit the service to enter civil aviation.

YOUTHS TAUNT GUARDSMEN

'Bohemian' Father Wins Custody Of Youngster, 10

SANTA CRUZ (UP)—A child battle that swirled out of the Iowa farm lands and caused a storm of controversy on its way to the U.S. Supreme Court was settled yesterday by a California judge.

Permanent guardianship of Mark Painter, 10, was granted to his father, Harold, a photographer-writer who lost custody of the lad in 1966 when the Iowa Supreme Court ruled in favor of the boy's maternal grandparents.

Painter, of Brookdale, (Santa Cruz County), was elated at the decision of Santa Cruz Superior Judge Gilbert Perry, although it was expected because the petition for guardianship was not contested by the Iowa couple.

"Mark's home, it's over with," said Painter. "It's a wonderful feeling. It's a very good day."

Painter testified from the witness stand for 13 minutes during the hearing. He described his three-bedroom home in the redwoods where the family will live.

Painter said his son had been "relaxed and happy" during a recent visit to California under an old agreement worked out in the Iowa decision.

The happy father said Mark had been "throwing out hints about staying" in California all during the one-month visit.

The Iowa Supreme Court stirred a nationwide controversy when it awarded young Mark to his maternal grandparents, Dwight and Margaret Banister, Ames, Iowa, in 1966.

The court overruled a lower court decision and said Mark would be better off in Iowa because it offered "a stable, dependable, conventional, middle-class, Midwest home."

Painter's life in California, the court said, was "unstable, unconventional, arty, bohemian and probably intellectually stimulating." The U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the Iowa decision.

Painter sent Mark to live in Iowa in 1962 after his wife, Jeanne Banister Painter, was killed in an auto accident. When Painter remarried he sought custody of Mark, but the boy's grandparents fought the matter in court.

"Your responsibilities are great," Judge Perry told Painter. "These are Mark's formative years which require careful balance, but I have no reason whatsoever to believe you can't do it."

Firemen Fight Grass, Brush Blaze In Hills

Firemen from three departments fought a windswept grass and brush fire for three hours Tuesday on hills above Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

Corte Madera Fire Lt. Lee J. Larson said that he was almost certain that children set the fire, which burned 30 acres and swept over the hill into Tiburon.

Tiburon firemen fought the blaze near Taylor Road, preventing it from spreading to homes in the area. The Marin County Fire Department also sent men and equipment.

Larson said the fire, which sent heavy smoke billowing from the hills during the evening commute period, did not damage any homes or other buildings. It was reported at 4:50 p.m.

Cash, Checks Taken From Register

Cash and checks totaling $300 were taken from the cash register of the infants department of the Emporium, Northgate Shopping Center, yesterday between 2:30 and 2:45 p.m., police said today.

Police said the cash register, located near a wall in a corner of the building, is difficult to see. No one was observed in the area at the time of the theft, police said.

LSD Sale Charged In Court Case

Thomas Allen Veach, 18, of Mill Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing and selling LSD in Sausalito Monday.

Preliminary hearing was set for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. Veach is charged with selling LSD capsules to an undercover agent of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

Teaching Of Race, Ethnic Ideas Liked

The Dixie School District Board of Trustees last night decided the district should develop a program of teaching about minority races, ethnic and religious groups.

The trustees appointed Ruth Kilby as temporary resource teacher to investigate and develop the program and authorized Supt. Dennie B. Willis to hire an outside consultant if necessary.

The trustees decided not to adopt a policy giving more decision making powers to principals and staffs on budget matters of each school but asked the superintendent to prepare a set of guidelines to be added to the budget document.

The Dixie District trustees also:

BOOK EXPENSES — Decided to join other districts in an attempt to recover money spent for library books where publishing companies overcharged.

HIRED — Appointed Mrs. Margaret Daulton as accounts clerk at a salary of $5,171 and Mrs. Persis Newman as teaching vice principal at Dixie School.

BATTLE OF CHICAGO — Police and anti-war demonstrators fought last night on Michigan Avenue near the Conrad Hilton Hotel, downtown Democratic headquarters. Police used clubs, tear gas and chemical Mace on the thousands of protesters. (UPI Telephoto)

Allies Suffer Bloodiest Week So Far This Summer

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Fresh fighting erupted in Vietnam today and U.S. headquarters said the number of American, South Vietnamese and enemy killed in combat last week soared to the highest total so far this summer.

The spiraling casualty tolls, coupled with new battles northwest of Saigon and below the demilitarized zone and a dozen enemy barrages against military posts and towns, dashed hopes among most military men of any de-escalation of the ground war in the near future.

In beating back enemy offensives last week, headquarters said, 308 Americans were killed in action, the highest toll since June 15, and another 1,144 were wounded.

South Vietnamese casualties were put at 495 government troops slain, their heaviest loss for any week since May 11.

U.S. headquarters reported 4,755 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, the biggest weekly total since May 18.

The report raised the number of Americans killed in combat in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, to 27,101. Another 169,296 U.S. troops have been wounded and 1,208 are missing or captured. Of the wounded, 89,204 were hospitalized and 80,092 did not require hospitalization, according to U.S. Command figures.

Forty-two noncombat deaths were reported for last week, raising the total in that category since 1961 to 4,397.

In the war itself today, U.S. paratroopers tore into a North Vietnamese battalion surrounded near Saigon and in the northern provinces sent German shepherd tracking dogs in search of an elusive Communist colonel known as the "Butcher of Hue."

From Trang Bang, 24 miles northwest of Saigon, UPI correspondent Nat Gibson said U.S. paratroopers had counted 105 North Vietnamese dead in fighting that began Tuesday with an aborted guerrilla ambush and spilled into today.

Far to the north, American airborne soldiers cut through heavy jungle south of coastal Hue in search of North Vietnamese Col. Trong Than Mot, dubbed the "Butcher of Hue" for his soldiers' killing of Vietnamese civilians during the battle of Hue in February.

The paratroopers also found two big arms hideouts and two underground Communist hospitals, one with signs the Communists had just pulled out. U.S. broadcast planes told Mot to "surrender or die." American tracking dogs sniffed out his trail.

"He is a crafty old devil," said Col. Alexander Bolling, the airborne commander. "He is a good fighting man and frankly I would be disappointed in him if he did surrender."

TRIAL

stared silently at his younger brother as he told the jury how John broke the news of Shirley Ackley's death to Suzanne Mulkey, her daughter, the day after the killings.

"He told her he had some bad news. That her parents came in while they were ransacking the trailer house. Someone's gun was half cocked and it went off. He told her 'you can guess what happened after that,' " Richard testified.

The younger Sommerhalder said his brother continued by telling the then hysterical daughter that 'it was either them or us' and "he said that if anybody talked he'd know who did."

Richard Sommerhalder said his brother's talk and demeanor that day so frightened him that he made it a point to stay close to a gun he saw in the room.

He admitted to the jury that he and a friend, Steve Tannehill of Rohnert Park, had burgled the Ackley trailer the day before the couple was murdered.

They stole $40 in coins and a .32 Special Smith and Wesson revolver, he said.

He gave the .32 revolver, which Bales says is the gun which killed the Ackleys, to John Sommerhalder the night before the killings, Richard said.

Under cross examination, Richard Sommerhalder said his brother told him he and Preston were in the trailer when the killings occurred, but that they did not participate.

"Neither Kraut (Preston) or I had anything to do with the shooting. We were in another room at the time. Neither Kraut or I had the guts to do the shooting or anything else that took place," Richard quoted his brother as saying.

He admitted telling police that he thought his brother, Preston and men named Scott and Bob were in the trailer at the time of the double murder.

He said his brother had told him of being in the trailer with Preston. "And during the conversation, three other names were mentioned — Scott, Bob and Ronald Long," Richard Sommerhalder said.

He said he, Suzanne Mulkey and Tannehill had talked about burgling the Ackley trailer, but that Mrs. Ackley's 19-year-old daughter was not along on the actual burglary run.

"Sue had told us that her parents had coins, guns and jars with money in them in the trailer," he said.

Richard told the jury that, though he is on parole from the California Youth Authority, his parole has never been revoked and he has never been charged since admitting to police that he burgled the trailer house.

VIOLENCE

Dellinger estimated that 300 demonstrators were injured in the confrontation which brought out an estimated combined police and guard force of 1,500. At least 267 persons were arrested. Four magistrates, working around the clock in two courtrooms, had processed 250 of the cases by mid-morning, releasing most on their own recognizance.

Thirty nine persons required hospital treatment. They included six newsmen who fell prey to police billy clubs and Mace and seven policemen stoned, clubbed or otherwise hurt by demonstrators.

The demonstration hit a peak as Humphrey was receiving the presidential nomination at the amphitheater, about five miles from the Hilton-Grant Park area.

Joining the last moments of the demonstrators were about 600 Democratic delegates and alternates who opposed Humphrey and supported Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

"Will there be a statement?" a newsman asked.

During the earlier uproar, tear gas filtered throughout the nation's largest hotel, even reaching the 25th floor suite of Humphrey and the room of McCarthy.

For a short time, Hilton guests—including Mrs. McCarthy—were virtual prisoners in the hotel. They were refused permission to leave by police as trash fires were set just outside, police cars were stoned, and some hotel windows were broken by crowd pressure.

Violence even invaded the hotel's red-carpeted lobby as police pursuing fleeing demonstrators fell upon an unidentified, long-haired newsman. He was beaten and dragged through the lobby door.

He was released at the insistance of two Columbia Broadcasting System executives, and taken to an aid station set up by supporters of McCarthy on the hotel's 15th floor.

McCarthy's 13-year-old daughter, Margaret, rolled bandages for a time, and McCarthy came down briefly to talk with several injured persons.

Much of the hours-long confrontation appeared to be a stand-off with a double line of police stretching from sidewalk to sidewalk and backed by a double line of rifle-carrying National Guardsmen facing an equal number of demonstrators who sat or stood in the street, milling and singing an occasional song.

But during several street-clearing rushes five and six policemen would fall upon a single demonstrator who had shouted an insult, club him, then drag the demonstrator across streets strewn with broken glass to the paddy wagons.

DEMOS

been ended by McCarthy's refusal to join the vice president on the platform in a unity gesture at tonight's closing session

McGovern, meanwhile, told reporters he would not accept the vice presidential nomination if it were offered to him nor appear at tonight's session without McCarthy. Humphrey reportedly wanted both of them or not individually.

McGovern, however, pledged support to Humphrey, but sharply criticized police handling of the antiwar demonstrators and called for an end to the political convention system.

The vice president, a smashing winner of his party's top spot on the first ballot last night stayed up late to share the joys of victory with his family and, by telephone, with President Johnson, Mrs. Johnson and the two Johnson daughters. Richard M. Nixon, the man he will have to beat in November to win the White House, also phoned congratulations.

Humphrey then struck at the downtown Chicago violence that has undercut his triumph, denouncing both "storm trooper tactics" of Chicago police and "rowdyism" on the convention floor by dissident delegates.

In command all the way, Humphrey trampled the challenges of peace candidates Sens. McCarthy and McGovern.

The vice president's methodically obtained victory was greeted with mixed enthusiasm and apprehension by security-harrassed delegates to this most guarded and restricted of all national conventions.

The selection of Humphrey promised to lay before the nation's voters a choice between President Johnson's domestic and foreign policies—which the vice president has backed solidly as a member of the administration team—and a proposed Nixon program that varies more in details than essentials.

McGovern 164 ½.

Entered along with Muskie's name was that of Sargent Shriver, ambassador to France, brother-in-law of Senator Kennedy. Others mentioned were Sen. Fred Harris, one of Humphrey's key supporters and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who nominated Humphrey.

The name of the Hawaiian senator was not on the list circulated to newsmen following the closing presidential selection convention session.

Johnson's prompt response to Humphrey's victory, in astatement released at his Texas ranch, was that the party had nominated "an excellent and an especially well-qualified candidate."

The violence of which Humphrey spoke followed the convention's rejection of a peace plank that demanded a complete and conditional halt in all bombing of North Vietnam.

Humphrey's forces won a critical vote 1,567 ¾ to 1,041 ¼ to keep in the party platform a pro-administration plank that made a bombing halt contingent on a reciprocal response from Hanoi and the safety of U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

ing Democratic Convention. GOP leaders said the disorderly spectacle "will cost Hubert Humphrey the support of millions of Americans this November.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, a member of the Republican "listening post" here, said the contrast between the rowdy Democratic convention here and the GOP convention two weeks ago at Miami Beach "is dramatic proof to the millions of Americans who watched them that Republicans offer the best solutions to peace at home and a fresh and realistic approach to building peace in the world."

OBITUARIES

Agnes Miller Dies At 77

Mrs. Miller, of 14 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, was a native of Braddock, Pa. She had lived in California for 50 years, the last 25 in Marin.

She was active in the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo, the Tamalpais Women's Club and the Order of Eastern Star, Fairfax. She was a former secretary of the California Federation of Music and was a published composer, poet, and short story writer.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Doris E. Gurley of Kentfield and Mrs. Verna M. Fairchild of San Anselmo; a sister, Mrs. Frank Preston of Santa Rosa; three brothers, Charles Oppel of Turlatin, Ore., George Oppel of LaPorte, Tex., and Virgil Oppel of Riverside, Riverside County; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Private family funeral will be tomorrow. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery. Memorial services will be Sunday at 2 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo. The family asks contributions to the church.

CHARLOTTE MERCER

Charlotte Mae Mercer, 54, of San Anselmo, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital yesterday after she collapsed at the United Market grocery in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Mercer, of 222 Brookside Drive, had a long history of heart disease, according to Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine, who attributed death to natural causes.

Mrs. Mercer, a native of Los Angeles, had lived in Marin 23 years. She was the wife of Dudley R. Mercer, an employee of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

ULYSSES GRANT III

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III, grandson of the Civil War general who was the 18th President of the United States, died today at his summer home here after a brief illness. He was 87.

Grant, who also maintained a home in Washington, D.C., served in the early 1960s as head of the national Civil War Centennial Commission, which was established to coordinate the 100th anniversary of the Civil War.

Grant served in both world wars. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and the Legion of Merit.

He was born on July 4, 1881.

In 1904, he married Edith Root, daughter of Elihu Root, who served as secretary of state under President Theodore Roosevelt. She is dead.

RALPH MATHEWS

Private funeral for Ralph Berkley Mathews, 87, of Belvedere, was held today at Halsted and Company mortuary, San Francisco.

A native of Missouri, he had lived in California 71 years and moved to Belvedere three years ago. A Stanford University graduate, he was a clerk for 30 years for the Home Insurance Company before retiring.

He was a life member of the Stanford Alumni Association, a 60-year member of the Salinas Elks Lodge, and a member of the Stanford Electrical Engineers Association and the Association of Electrical Engineers of America.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth E. Mathews of Belvedere; two sons, Dr. Benton D. Mathews of Belvedere and Berkley Mathews of Los Gatos; nine grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

ALBERT MORANI

Albert Joseph Morani, 47, of 12 Baywood Court, Fairfax, died Tuesday at his home apparently of a heart attack.

Son of the late Frank and Mary Morani, he was born at Cherry, Ill. He attended Whitewater University, Whitewater, Wis., where he was affiliated with Phi Ki Epsilon social fraternity. Morani was graduated from the University of California.

A seaman, he was a member of the Mates and Pilots Union, San Francisco.

Survivors are a sister, Mrs. Katherine Rasonsky, Fairfax, and brothers Celio and Frank, both of Fairfax, Louis of San Francisco and Ceasar of Kenosha, Wis.

The funeral will be Saturday at 10 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, 1022 E Street, San Rafael. Interment will be private at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

MARTHA PERKINS

Martha Perkins, 58, housekeeper and cook for the Vernon Skewes-Cox family in Ross, was found dead early yesterday in her room at the Skewes-Cox residence.

Deputy coroner Keith C. Craig attributed death to natural causes pending autopsy. Mrs. Perkins had a history of diabetes, Craig said.

Mrs. Perkins, a native of Louisiana, had lived in California 10 years and in Marin for six years. She is survived by her husband, John Perkins, of Richmond.

Funeral is pending at Cooley Funeral Service, Fresno.

WILLIAM VOORHEIS

William S. Voorheis, 85, of 2023 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, died last night at his home following a lengthy illness.

Born in Flint, Mich., he came to Marin County 33 years ago and had been active in Marin Senior Association, Inc., serving as its first president in 1953. Voorheis received an honorable mention award in the 1966 Outstanding Senior Citizen contest. He was honored for his long faithful service to the association and was termed "a dedicated man who makes life pleasanter for the older people."

An enthusiastic gardener, he often brought flowers to decorate the refreshment tables and made sure they would brighten the lives of members living in apartments with no garden space.

Voorheis, who had been self-employed as a carpenter, built shelves and did repair work in various senior citizen meeting places throughout the years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ann Voorheis, and a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Leister of Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Guatemalans Slay U.S. Ambassador

JOHN GORDON MEIN
Killed fleeing abductors

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI)— Guatemala declared a 30-day "state of siege" today, suspending constitutional limits on search and seizure to hunt the submachine gun assassins of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein.

Mein, 54, was gunned down Wednesday attempting to flee a band of men who forced his limousine off the street three blocks from the U.S. Embassy and ordered him into one of their cars.

His chauffeur said Mein stepped from his limousine in the exclusive residential neighborhood and broke and ran. A burst of machine gunfire felled him.

"He was lying on the ground and still moving, so they shot him some more times with pistols until he died," the unidentified chauffeur said. Then, he said, the men got back into the two cars that had forced him off the road and drove away.

Doctors said the ambassador died of seven bullet wounds. His body was placed in state at the Reforma Funeral Home, where hundreds of persons gathered to mourn. There was no immediate word when the body would be flown to his native Cadiz, Ky.

There were no immediate reports of arrests.

U.S. sources said Mein's life had been threatened previously by the Revolutionary Armed Forces, a Cuban-backed Communist terror group. A career foreign service officer, Mein was married and the father of three young boys. His family is here.

The Guatemalan Ministry of Interior issued a communique expressing "the sorrow in all sectors of Guatemala over the death of the ambassador." It praised Mein for his "great merits" and called him a "friend of Guatemala."

President Johnson in 1965 appointed Mein as ambassador to Guatemala, a nation the size of Tennessee that has been beset by terrorists of the political right and left.

Since 1967, political violence has killed nearly 2,000 persons. Seven months ago, Col. John Webber, chief of the U.S. military mission, and Capt. Ernest Munro, chief of the U.S. Embassy's naval section, were assassinated.

A Communist-led insurgent group said their deaths were in retaliation for the killing of a Guatemalan beauty queen by rightwing terrorists.

In Washington, a spokesman said President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were "shocked and grieved" by the slaying and urged "a full investigation of all the circumstances of the tragedy."

A graduate of Georgetown College in Kentucky and Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., Mein joined the diplomatic service in 1947. He was second secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Rome and first secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Oslo.

His foreign service assignments also included Manila, Jakarta and Rio de de Janeiro.

Car Bomb Suspect Freed By Tahoe Investigators

ZEPHYR COVE, Nev. (AP)— Murder charges have been dropped against Donn Lee Cavnar, 25, a few hours after he was jailed in the bomb death of a Lake Tahoe casino owner.

Richard Chartrand, 42, was killed Tuesday when a bomb exploded under the floorboard of his car as he backed out of his driveway.

In announcing Cavnar's release yesterday, Dist. Atty. Ted Stokes said:

"A portion of the evidence upon which the warrant was issued was testimony of an informant that Cavnar had on several occasions threatened to kill Chartrand.

"He had stated to the informant that he planned to plant a bomb in Chartrand's automobile.

"Although such statements were admitted by the suspect, the other evidence developed in the case doesn't warrant holding Mr. Cavnar to answer a charge of murder," Stokes said.

Chartrand, general manager of the South Tahoe Nuggett, had fired Cavnar a month ago as a poker dealer, according to Chairman Frank Johnson of the Nevada Gaming Control Board.

Trial Date Set In Forgery Case

Steven Ellsworth, 19, of Larkspur was ordered yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to appear at 11 a.m. Sept. 10 in Marin Superior Court for trial on a charge of forgery.

Ellsworth is charged with trying to pass a forged check at a Corte Madera bank April 26 and with failing to appear in court July 23. He was released on his own recognizance.

Switchboard Lauded For Mature Aid; Worker's Dress Questioned

By JOANNE GRANT

The major purpose of Switchboard or Marin is giving. If we give to them, they can give more, said the chairman of the board of supervisors, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, appearing on the KTIM "Sounding Board" program today.

Kettenhofen related what Switchboard had given him. He said he called recently when his own son left home.

They handled it with a quiet maturity and accomplished more than all of the other organized agencies in Marin, he said.

Rev. Karel F. Botermans, minister of Marin Fellowship of Unitarians and another member of the panel, said that was one of the reasons Switchboard started.

"Something needed to be done about the generation gap," Botermans said. We went on the belief that there are people who can be trusted even if they are over 30, he added.

That was a little over a year ago. Today, Switchboard is a growing operation staffed around the clock by volunteers and backed up by numerous lawyers, probation officers, police and other professional people.

The growth is the major problem of the organization today, reported panel members Guy Bachelis, 19, and Richard Beban, 20, both of Switchboard.

Bachelis said the Presbyterian Church of San Rafael may have a place for the group to develop a "drop-in" center and a proposal is being prepared to place before the church's board.

Also needed are people, jobs, housing and information on activities and events in the community, he said.

In answer to a question from a listener, Botermans said, "Ideally it would be nice if kids could talk with their parents or clergymen. But they just can't. We're trying to find a channel for them to find a person to talk to."

"We don't function as substitute parents," Beban said, explaining that every effort is made to get the child and the parents back in communication while respecting the privacy and individualism of each.

Another listener criticized Bachelis' long hair and a band he sometimes wears around his forehead. "Are you rebelling?" the questioner said.

Bachelis replied he was not rebelling: "I have a very strong concern for what's happening in the community." He said his hair is comfortable.

Kettenhofen described Bachelis' appearance today, noting that his hair was not very long and that he looked neat and clean. "I would be proud to have him as my son," the supervisor said.

Kettenhofen said what is inside is more important. There is good in his heart and mind, he said of Bachelis.

Answering another caller, Bachelis said, "We try to help people be as self-sufficient as possible" rather than live off the community. Beban noted they had a tremendous number of calls for jobs.

Another caller wondered if there was a need for more adults at Switchboard and Bachelis and Beban responded with an enthusiastic yes. They said adults will be needed as operators when school starts and many more are needed as resource people.

Kettenhofen reported the board of supervisors supported Switchboard and urged other Marin residents to support it in a resolution passed Tuesday. Supervisors called it "an ingenious and comprehensive program for the dissemination of information."

The program will be reported on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

U.S. Exports Top Imports In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States exports topped imports by $139 million in July, the Commerce Department reported yesterday, reversing the deficit division that had been recorded in foreign trade the month before.

While there was an increase in exports, on a seasonally adjusted basis, the accompanying decline in imports was equally good news to government economists worried by the rising level of U.S. purchases from other countries.

Youth Pleads Innocent In Burglary

Curtis Lynn Ross, 18, of House 17, San Quentin Village, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge he burgled a San Rafael store Aug. 6.

Preliminary hearing was set for 10:30 a.m. Sept. 17. He will also enter pleas then to two traffic warrants.

Ross was arraigned Tuesday in Municipal Court on another charge of burgling De Long Chevrolet Co. in San Rafael earlier that day.

San Rafael police reported seeing Ross and a 16-year-old companion scale a fence at De Long's at 12:59 a.m., but they escaped in the darkness. They were arrested an hour later when seen at Second and A streets.

Ross was ordered to appear at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday for further proceedings on Tuesday's charge. The 16-year-old was cited to Juvenile Court.

Plans Decision Postponed By Board

The San Anselmo Design Review Board last night postponed decision on plans for a post office and a Mexican restaurant proposed for the old Safeway building on San Anselmo Avenue because landscaping plans were not completed.

The board also asked for a sample of the tile to be used on the front of the buildings to be shown at the next meeting, Sept. 11, when the matter will be discussed again.

Newton Trial In Five-Day Recess

OAKLAND (UPI) — A court-ordered five day pause went into effect today in the seven-week murder trial of Black Panther Party founder Huey P. Newton.

The emotion-charged trial will resume after the Labor Day weekend with final arguments by the prosecution and then the defense.

Testimony ended yesterday. Superior Judge Monroe Friedman dismissed the seven women and five men on the jury with instructions to return next Tuesday.

It is expected the jurors will be charged with the case later next week.

They will be asked to determine if Newton, 26, fatally shot Oakland policeman John Frey, 23, and wounded another officer in a pre-dawn incident in West Oakland last Oct. 28.

Newton has denied shooting either officer. He testified he remembered almost nothing after he was shot in the abdomen during a scuffle with Frey.

The defendant saluted his older brother with the clenched-fist Black Panther salute when he entered the courtroom Wednesday.

Melvin Newton, 30, was questioned on the witness stand for 10 minutes about a 1958 incident at a Berkeley high school in which the defendant was involved in a fracas with some other youths.

The older Newton also said his brother could neither read nor write after he was graduated from a high school in Oakland.

Friedman later denied a renewal of two motions by defense attorney Charles R. Garry for acquittal of Newton on both charges involving the shooting of the policemen.

Garry will begin his final argument following the presentation of Assistant Dist. Atty. Lowell Jensen. The attorneys will sum up the testimony of more than 50 witnesses who appeared during 27 trial days.

Fatal Crashes Near The Home

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A study of the 65 deaths that occurred in 60 traffic accidents in California last July 4 showed that most of the deaths occurred within 25 miles of the victims' homes.

Results of the survey were made public yesterday by the California state Automobile Association and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Investigators for the two organizations found that 46 of the 60 fatal accidents occurred within 25 miles of the victim's homes.

Driver error was blamed in 38 cases, and 32 of the deaths occurred duriing daylight hours.

The two auto groups plan a similar study of Labor Day traffic fatalities.

Gun Accident Victim Is Fair

Mrs. Martha E. Hunt, 56-year-old San Rafael woman who was wounded by an accidental gunshot blast Aug. 15, was reported in fair condition and improving today at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

A patient in the intensive care unit, Mrs. Hunt had been transferred to the San Francisco Hospital from Marin General Hospital. Mrs. Hunt had been wounded in the abdomen during the accident at her home at 3 Jones Place.

Governor's Conspiracy Case To Jury

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The case of former Gov. W. W. Barron and four other defendants went to the jury today, the 14th day of their bribery conspiracy trial in U.S. District Court.

Special Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. sent the jury of seven women and five men out at 12:18 p.m. (EDT).

He had spent more than one and one-half hours in charging the jury.

The defendants are charged with conspiring to use interstate facilities in carrying on and distributing the proceeds of an alleged bribery scheme in violation of West Virginia law.

Judge Martin instructed the jury that the only federal crime alleged is conspiracy and "the mere fact that there was bribery would not warrant you convicting these defendants."

He also told the jury it could not draw any inference from the defendants' failure to testify. The defense rested its case Monday without presenting any witnesses.

Martin said the defense has "the right to rely upon failure of the prosecution to establish proof."

He said law does not place upon defendants any obligation for presenting evidence.

Marijuana Case Goes To Court

Andrew Blake, 18, of 200 Julia Avenue, Homestead Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana.

A report was ordered for Sept. 11 on whether Blake will be referred to Juvenile Court. Blake and a 17-year-old San Francisco boy were arrested Monday night at the American Distillery, outside Sausalito, on suspicion of possessing marijuana. The 17-year-old was booked at Juvenile Hall.

Municipal Court Hearing Scheduled

Troy Edward Rhodd, 20, of no fixed address, was ordered yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to appear at 2 p.m. Sept 11 for a report on whether he will be accepted by Juvenile Court.

10 Orphaned Children Going To New Home

MADERA (AP)—"I guess you can say I traded my mother for 10 kids," Mrs. Stanley Graves of Concord said after she was named guardian of the 10 Morris orphans.

Mrs. Graves is a paternal aunt of the children, aged 3-17. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris of Madera, were killed July 2 in an automobile accident.

Superior Court Judge Jack Hammerberg ruled yesterday Mrs. Molly Morris, 60, their widowed grandmother, must move out of the Graves home. The judge didn't explain his ruling.

The Graves also have a son, David, 15.

The grandmother said tearfully she did not know where to go. She has lived with her daughter and son-in-law 10 years.

She lives temporarily with a cousin, Mrs. Victoria Acosta of Fresno.

The children, who begged authorities to let them stay together, sat cheerfully as the judge gave his ruling.

"It's great, but I don't like the conditions," said Cathy, the eldest. They had wanted to stay in Madera.

The judge thanked the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Boris Lachawicz of Fresno, for having cared for the children. He indicated that, in their 60s, they should not have the burden of caring for the children.

Mrs. Lachawicz left silently but damp-eyed.

The children and the court did not consider the more than 100 adoption offices from throughout the country.

Contributions total $50,000. The children also are receiving $425 a month in Social Security.

Grand Theft Charge Brings Innocent Plea

Theodore A. Daum, 47, of 333 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of grand theft.

Preliminary hearing was set for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 23. Daum, who was arrested Aug. 22, was charged with drawing $65 a week unemployment compensation from Aug. 10, 1967, to Jan. 30, 1968 although he was earning $100 a week as a salesman for a San Francisco lithography firm.

Home Looted

Mrs. Lucy Salz reported to Ross police yesterday that between 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. her home on Ivy Drive was burgled of a stereo tape recorder, multiplex receiver and amplifier, a camera, madras bedspread and an Al Hirt tape recording. Value was not reported.

Check Charge Hearing Continued

Frank Oliver Ruse, 45, of Santa Venetia, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge he passed a bad check for $417.75 Aug. 4 to Ed Miehle Motors in San Rafael.

Ruse said he intended to commit himself to Mendocino State Hospital and was ordered to appear at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow for further court proceedings.

Property Tax Ballot Due County Scrutiny

Is a 1 per cent limitation on the property tax a feasible method for tax relief?

This will be discussed at a meeting of county department heads at 8:45 a.m. next Wednesday in the board of supervisors chambers at Civic Center.

Speaker will be either Robert C. Brown, executive vice president of the California Taxpayers Association, or one of his key lieutenants.

County Administrator Alan Bruce announced he will open the department head meeting to the public and will invite supervisors to attend because of the importance of the subject.

The discussion will center on the Watson Amendment, which will be on the November ballot. The amendment seeks to limit property tax levies to a maximum of 1 per cent of market value by 1975.

The amendment would also limit use of property tax revenues to property-related services such as sewage, fire and police protection, stripping schools, welfare and other social services of this source of support.

The amendment makes no provision for replacement of the approximately $2 billion loss in tax revenues.

Forgery Suspect Misses Hearing; Warrant Issued

A bench warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Dana Theresa Burchett, 21, of Piedmont, arraigned last week in Marin on charges police say are connected with a $180,000 theft of blank travelers' checks.

Miss Burchett failed to appear yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to plead. The court clerk said someone had called to say she was appearing before the U. S. commissioner in San Francisco at the time she was due in court, but Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. ordered the bench warrant and set her bail at $2,500.

Miss Burchett is charged with forgery, receiving stolen property and possessing a completed check with intent to defraud. She was arrested Aug. 20 in San Anselmo when she reportedly tried to cash $200 worth of travelers' checks which police said were part of a stolen interstate shipment.

Marin Population Up 3.6 Per Cent In Year

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin County's rate of population growth in the past year was double the state growth average with the county's population estimated at 207,400 as of July 1.

The 3.6 per cent increase represents 7,200 residents more than the 1967 estimate of 200,200, and 18,800 new residents more than the 188,600 in 1965.

Caspar Weinberger, director of the Department of Finance, reported a statewide increase of 1.6 per cent in the past year with a total population of 19,782,000.

The greatest numerical growth in the past year was experienced by Los Angeles County with 64,100 new residents.

The eight southern counties are now estimated to contain 58.3 per cent of the total state population, up slightly from the 57.4 per cent living there in 1960. The Bay Area's share remained relatively stable at about 23 per cent.

HUMPHREY SCENE

Street Violence Saddens Victor

CHICAGO (AP) — Winning the Democratic presidential nomination, a prize he first sought eight years ago, provided Hubert H. Humphrey with a bittersweet victory.

"My happiness has been mixed with some sorrow," the vice president said last night of his victory, which came while downtown Chicago was whipsawed by running battles between groups of young people and police reinforced by National Guard troops.

Humphrey said his heart went out to all the persons injured in the street fightiing.

Earlier, he had sat thin-lipped and grim, watching on television the rioting on the streets 25 stories below his hotel suite.

Newsmen had been invited to be on hand to watch Humphrey see himself win the Democratic nomination. But the mood in the five-room suite was dark and sombre.

The vice president dropped into a chair beside a reporter. His jaw was set. On the screen a policeman was chasing a demonstrator, club raised.

How did the vice president feel on this night when the prize would be his?

'NOT VERY GOOD'

"Not very good when I see this," he said. "They don't represent the people of Chicago," he said of the rioters. "They've been brought in from all over the country."

Friends, including Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, began arriving. Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco was now making the speech putting Humphrey's name in nomination.

Humphrey moved closer to the set for the benefit of cameramen. He was smiling now.

"There's my wife right there," he said as Mrs. Humphrey's picture suddenly appeared. She was sitting in the gallery of the convention center.

When his name was put in, the friends in the room began to applaud. Humphrey, grinned, applauded too. The band was playing, "Let a Winner Lead the Way," the Humphrey campaign theme.

OVER QUICKLY

The balloting began, and it was over very quickly. Humphrey had won the nomination. He got to his feet, clapping his hands together and smiling. There was Mrs. Humphrey again. The vice president blew her a kiss.

He hardly had time to begin shaking hands when he was called out of the room. President Johnson was on the phone from the Texas ranch with congratulations.

"Bless your heart, thank you," Humphrey said to Johnson.

After talking to Mrs. Johnson as well as the two Johnson daughters, the vice president had another telephone call. This one from Richard M. Nixon, his Republican opponent for the presidency.

Approximately two hours after he had won the nomination Humphrey appeared in the ballroom to the cheers of about 300 supporters. A band played the theme song.

He said he had talked with his two opponents—McCarthy and Sen. George S. McGovern.

He told the young people present that if they had been listening in, "You wouldn't have heard any harsh words . . . both the senators were very kind in their statements and wished me well."

British Press Deplores The Chicago Riots

LONDON (AP) — British correspondents at the Democratic National Convention paid more attention today to violence in Chicago than they did to the election prospects of the presidential nominee, Hubert H. Humphrey.

"The whole spectacle of what would normally have been a joyful, triumphant occasion, was marred by horrifying scenes of police violence in the streets of Chicago," wrote the Evening News correspondent, Winston S. Churchill, grandson of the late prime minister.

James Cameron said in the Evening Standard that police pressure in the convention city was being compared with the events in Prague.

Churchill, who said he was clubbed by a policeman and pinned against a wall by a police motorcycle, denounced what he called "senseless brutality." He said he was with James Auchcincloss, Mrs. John Kennedy's half brother, when the two of them were attacked as they tried to help a young girl.

At least two other British correspondents were beaten by police, the News reported.

The newspaper said Humphrey's nomination, "offered no unity, no real confidence." It added that Humphrey "was merely the natural heir to an unpopular administration that has torn the political idealistic fabric of this party asunder."

Cameron accused the Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley of "intellectual brutality and ignorance . . . I think this performance of turning Chicago into a kind of asphalted Vietnam has probably done for him now."

The Daily Express said despite Humphrey's win "it became more clear than ever that the party will go to the presidential election in November bitterly and deeply divided over the Vietnam war."

Sergey Losey, writing for Tass, the Soviet news agency, devoted his attention to the convention fight over the Vietnam plank.

The East German news agency ADN said Humphrey was nominated by "the reactionary majority" and added: "This means that the monopolists and the military clique, who are leading American politics, succeeded also in the Democrat party as earlier in the Republican party."

FBI Begins Probe Into Reporters Being Roughed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has launched an investigation of what a Democratic congressman labels "unnecessary and violent interference" with reporters at the Democratic National Convention.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark ordered the investigation yesterday and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., urged the attorney general to send investigators immediately "to fully evaluate the performance of the Chicago Police Department and the Illinois National Guard."

More than 24 newsmen said they were roughed up Monday and Tuesday covering demonstrations or the convention. Several incidents were shown on nationwide television.

"Indications of serious violations of civil rights guaranteed under both the Constitution and civil rights acts of the past several years appear rampant in Chicago," said Moss, who saw some of the incidents while watching television at his Washington home.

"Unnecessary and violent interference with the reporting of bonafide news of great national import is particularly disturbing," said Moss.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said, "The security is needed to prevent violence. The same forces creating disorder outside the convention hall are creating it inside."

"Who is creating the disorder, Mr. Mayor?" asked a newsman.

"You are," replied Daley.

Clark didn't elaborate on his announcement launching the investigation, but it was expected to cover all phases of security arrangments in Chicato—federal, state, local and private.

The Secret Service, which had responsibility for coordinating security, was known to be conferring with Chicago police yesterday.

Two newsmen were reported arrested last night when some demonstrators got into the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Tom Corpora of United Press International said he was arrested after demanding the name of a police officer who Corpora said had insulted him. Photographer Jean Vassal of France was thrown into a police van.

CBS news said convention floor reporter Mike Wallace was struck in the face by a police officer and arrested. He was later released after the officer and Wallace shook hands.

Dog Kills Eight Lambs, Two Ewes

Eight lambs and two ewes were killed by a marauding dog Sunday night in a Chileno Valley corral, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Frederick S. Schell of 287 Wetmore Lane discovered the mauled sheep Monday morning in his corral. A deputy shot two lambs which had been badly bitten but were still alive.

Radio, Jackets, Camera, Watch Are Stolen

Robert Lee Lash of Millbrae complained to sheriff's officers that thieves forced open the window of his car, parked outside the Ark at Gate Six outside Sausalito Saturday night, and stole a transistor radio and sports jacket.

James A. Burki of Mountain View said thieves stole a similar coat and a $50 camera from his car, parked in front of the Ark the following day, officers reported yesterday.

Other burglaries reported by sheriff's officers included:

Red Cross

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — The Nigerian government has deported three Red Cross workers for unspecified offences, official spokesmen said Tuesday. The workers were in Nigeria to attempt to arrange aid for the Eastern Region of Biafra.

CBS Extends Debate Offer To Humphrey

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System today invited Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey to debate Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon on its radio-television networks.

A similar offer had been extended earlier to Nixon, "whose response was favorable," CBS told Humphrey in a letter delivered to him in Chicago after he won the nomination early today.

Burglary Reported

Items worth $1,395 were taken Monday from the home of William Spencer, 51 Santa Rosa Avenue, Sausalito police reported yesterday. Stolen were radios, camera, a television and clothing.

GOVERNOR TALK

In Defeat, Unruh Regains Liberals

By BILL BOYARSKY

CHICAGO (AP)—Some of the California Democratic National Convention delegates who opposed Jesse M. Unruh just a few years ago now want him to run for governor in 1970.

Stephen Reinhardt, the new national committeeman, said the Assembly speaker's work as chairman of the delegation had strengthened him with the liberal Democrats who have called him a political boss in the past.

"Jess will emerge as a very strong candidate for governor in the minds of the people of California," Reinhardt told a reporter. Reinhardt once was an Unruh foe.

IN DEFEAT

Ninety-one of them voted for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, and 51 for Sen. George McGovern. Humphrey received only 14 votes, three less than the favorite son of Washington, D.C., Rev. Channing Phillips, a Negro minister. Unruh voted for McCarthy.

And, the bulk of the delegation expressed its opposition to the Vietnam War by unsuccessfully backing a platform plank demanding a change in policy, including unilateral ending of the bombing of North Vietnam.

ALIOTO WINS

One rising California politician, however, backed a winner. San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, a potential opponent for Unruh in the governorship primary, put Humphrey's name in nomination.

Alioto has become a close friend of Humphrey's, and during the convention has stayed in a hotel suite near the vice president's.

Unruh's backers, however, said they didn't consider the convention a loss.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr. of San Francisco said "I assume Unruh will run for governor and I assume the strength he has developed being in charge of the delagation and the cooperation he got will carry through to his gubernatorial campaign."

UNRUH FUTURE

He said that the liberals of the California Democratic Council "will be able to develop some loyalty to a Jesse Unruh and a Jesse Unruh will find it pleasant to contribute to the election of CDC types." Brown once voted against Unruh for speaker.

Unruh was given two standing ovations at the delegation's caucus.

He told the delegates he had tried to mount a Kennedy draft movement, but Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts stopped it.

"I still feel he could not have said no to a draft," said Unruh. "Had the delegates been left alone, that would have happened. That was just not meant to be."

He said he will support Humphrey. "I am a party man," said Unruh. "I will support the nominee as long as I am a Democrat."

McCARTHY VOTE

Unruh, uncommitted since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, winner of the June primary, announced to the caucus his decision to back McCarthy, who lost the election.

McCarthy, he said, is "man who walked alone" early in the campaign when he was the only candidate protesting President Johnson and his Vietnam war policy.

Unruh sent a letter to the Democratic National Committee accusing it of security measures that have "reached a level of harassment and interference that has at times prevented delegates from conducting their essential business of adopting a platform and selecting a presidential nominee."

Alaskan Dove Still Trailing

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Mike Gravel, an Anchorage real estate developer, apparently has put an end to the 35-year political career of Sen. Ernest Gruening, longtime Vietnam War critic.

With 373 of Alaska's 410 precincts reported, unofficial returns in their race for the Democratic senatorial nomination gave Gravel, 38, a lead of 16,820 to 14,354.

Gravel claimed victory, but Gruening, 81-year-old former newspaperman and magazine editor, said he would await final returns.

Still to be counted are an estimated 3,500 absentee ballots and results from small precincts in the 49th state's remote interior and Aleutian Islands. The absentee ballots were to be counted today. Results from the outlying precincts are not expected for days.

Gruening said it was not his opposition to the Vietnam war but a television documentary on Gravel's life and aims, shown repeatedly in the final days of the campaign, that caused him to trail.

Gravel, former speaker of the Alaska House of Representatives, said he is not a hawk but believes that the United States must honor its Vietnam commitment.

Wires Crossed In Nomination Of Humphrey

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota was placed in nomination ahead of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey because California crossed up Alaska.

Chairman Jesse Unruh of the California delegation told the convention it was a misunderstanding.

Alaska yielded during the roll call of states to California. It expected Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco to nominate Humphrey. He did later.

Extra Session

ROME (UPI)—Parliamentary leaders called an extraordinary session today to discuss the Czechoslovak crisis. Observers said several political parties would use the session to attempt to weaken the power and prestige of the Italian Communist party.

APPEAL BEGINS

Fired Police Officer Called 'Overbearing'

Former Larkspur Police Officer J. Scott Waterman was "overbearing" and "was a changed person when he put on a uniform," Police Chief Howard Clark testified last night.

The chief was the only witness to testify at the opening of a hearing before the Larkspur City Council on Waterman's appeal of his dismissal last month.

Waterman was fired for failure to follow Sgt. John F. Cottle's instruction and "refusal to answer my questions," Chief Clark testified.

Another factor was Waterman's "long over-all inefficiency," the chief said.

Over the objections of Theodore C. Lachelt, Waterman's attorney, personnel records and letters covering Waterman's entire four-year career with the department were introduced.

Chief Clark said Waterman had difficulty cooperating with fellow officers and relating to the public. At one point he testified that the department had "more complaints about Waterman than all the other officers put together."

He also reported that the department had received several letters from residents commending Watermans' work.

Under cross-examiniation he admitted that Waterman had never been suspended a day, and that he had received annual step pay raises and there were no written complaints by residents against Waterman on file.

On the reported insubordination, the chief said that Sergenat Cottle asked Waterman when he was going to do some followup work on a burglary report, and Waterman said he wouldn't without compensation.

Lachelt made several objections to evidence being offered, and Acting City Atty. Peter Breckus contended that the hearing didn't operate under the "strict rules of evidence" that would be required in a courtroom.

In February he gave Waterman a 90-day notice that his performance would have to change or he would no longer be with the department, the chief said.

After the June 20 city council meeting, Waterman told a fellow officer he heard that the police had gotten a raise and a radio system, the chief testified. "When he came in I asked him where he heard the report, and he said the Blue Rock and I asked him to tell me who told him and he said he didn't have to tell me anything like that."

The chief said he felt that when an officer was on duty and was asked a question . . . "I find it imperative that he answer."

Lachelt asked Chief Clark, "Did you ever say I oughta belt you?" to Waterman.

"I don't know," the chief said. "I don't recall. I may have been angry enough."

The chief earlier testified that Waterman had also been given a warning Dec. 24, 1964, after the first six months of his probationary period that he would have to improve or he would be asked to resign.

Waterman was given an 18-month probationary period "to overcome some deficiences," the chief noted. He also testified that Waterman was once ill and didn't call in to report that he wouldn't be able to appear for duty, as required.

After two-and-three quarter hours, the hearing was continued until 8 p.m. Tuesday at Larkspur City Hall.

Piers, Floats Asked In Creek

An application to build piers and floats on 19 lots fronting Larkspur Creek in Greenbrae has been filed with the Army Corps of Engineers by the Laguna Improvement Co., 147 Bon Air Shopping Center, Greenbrae.

The lots extend between the creek and Riviera Circle north of Doherty Drive.

Persons objecting to the project may send their comments in triplicate by Sept. 26 to the Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco 94102.

Maj. S.H.M. Byers wrote the words to "The Song of Iowa", official song of the state.

Larkspur Places Five-Ton Limit On Bon Air Bridge

Larkspur City Council last night passed an emergency ordinance to set a load limit of five tons for trucks using the Bon Air Bridge over Corte Madera Creek. (Another Larkspur Council story, page 1.)

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathhurst emphasized there was no danger, but the Bridge Department of the State Division of Highways had recommended setting the five-ton load limit.

Preliminary calculations were that very heavy hauling should be prohibited, Bathurst reported.

After a long, hot session, it was 12:20 a.m. and councilmen were ready to adjourn when Bathurst said he had two more matters to bring up.

Brixon said he didn't see them on the agenda, and loudly urged Bathurst "to run this like a business."

Bathurst replied that he had just gotten the highway survey report and, tossing his papers down on a table, said he didn't care . . . "if you want the bridge to fall down."

Brixon, who up until then was unaware that the bridge was involved, contended that Bathurst could have placed the items on the agenda simply by asking the mayor.

Brixon previously had expressed dissatisfaction about coordination of undergrounding utilities with improvements to the north section of Magnolia Road. Bathurst replied that every step was taken toward coordination as soon as it was possible.

The council accepted with regret the resignation of Fire Chief George Bartram, a 14-year-member of the department and chief for the past eight years.

Mayor Alfred Malvino said Bartram was "leaving firefighting."

Councilmen agreed that the two captains in the department, William C. Lellis and Craig Schurtz, be interviewed by an oral board and then one selected to succeed Bartram.

Brixon said the council also should indicate its plans to create the post of assistant fire chief.

The Larkspur City Council also:

COMMUTE TAX — Endorsed any legal action by Marin County supervisors to overturn San Francisco's commuter tax, but opposed any economic boycotts, noting that Marin residents conduct business in San Francisco.

GUARD RAIL — Urged that Marin County bear the cost of installing a guard rail and protected sidewalk on the north side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Eliseo Drive to Corte Comoda for the protection of pedestrians.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday to continue its hearing on an appeal by J. Scott Watterman, who was fired as a police officer July 1. The next regular session is 8 p.m. Wednesday.

District To Rent Office Space From Tomales

The Shoreline Unified School District will rent office space from Tomales Bay School District under an agreement reached Tuesday night between the two districts at a special meeting of the Tomales board at the elementary school.

The Tomales board signed final papers selling the Bloomfield School to Mrs. Florentine B. Chase of Mill Valley for $5,000, Nixon said.

It accepted the resignation of Joy B. McCorkle, eighth grade teacher, because of illness in the family. It hired Larry G. Dondero at $6,100 per year to teach eighth grade and instruct intramural sports during the lunch hour, according to Supt. Ralph E. Nixon. It also hired Janet E. Bonar as a teacher aide at $1,500 per year.

No Newsmen

LONDON (AP) — The Czechoslovak government announced yesterday it will not admit foreign newsmen to the country until further notice. But the statement, from the Foreign Ministry said nothing about foreign journalists already in the country.

Telegraph Avenue To Be Closed

BERKELEY (AP)—The Berkely City Council voted yesterday to close two blocks of Telegraph Avenue from 7 p.m. to midnight Sept. 7.

It will be an experiment to see how a temporary mall would work on the avenue from Channing Way to Dwight Way — scene of disturbances from June 28 to July 2.

The disturbances began when crowds closed an intersection for an assembly, without a police permit.

A group called the "Berkeley Resistance" had asked for the closing to hold a street dance and "Celebration of life."

However, the council voted to allow any group to use the street during the closing.

"We've closed the major streets for other groups for many years," said Councilman Wilmont Sweeney, a backer of the mall proposal.

"But this whole problem arose on Telegraph," he said, "when hippies asked for it and my sense of fair play led me to believe we ought to try and work something out."

Larkspur School Registration Set Weekdays

New pupils in the Larkspur School District may register weekdays through Sept. 2 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at all the district schools, the district office has announced.

Parents of kindergarten children must present proof that their youngsters will be 5 years old by Dec. 2.

A portable library at Neil Cummins School and new portables to be used as classroom, reading laboratory and physical education locker rooms at Henry C. Hall School will be ready for the opening of school, according to Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

District preschool meetings for teachers will be Sept. 3-6. School will begin Sept. 10.

Theft Suspect Will Stand Trial

After a preliminary hearing yesterday in Marin Municipal Court, Carlos A. Rosete, 18, of San Francisco, was ordered held for trial in Marin Superior Court on a charge of stealing a motorcycle in Sausalito Aug. 14.

Rosete is to appear at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in superior court for setting of trial.

Span Board Votes Publicity Donation

A committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today approved a donation of $25,000 to the Redwood Empire Association for publicity purposes.

The committee also authorized $8,500 for the San Francisco Convention and Visitor's Bureau.

Both actions must go to the full bridge board at its regular meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the bridge toll plaza office.

Today's approval came on a 4-2 vote by members of the legislation and public relations committees. The dissenting votes were cast by Lowell Edington of Napa, who said that the Redwood Empire Association should take an active part in helping the bridge district continue in existence. He was referring to various legislation aimed at dissolving the district. "It is time for REA to come back into harness and take part in helping to determine the bridge district's future," Edington said.

The other dissenter was John E. Dearman of San Francisco, who said no further publicity is needed because the bridge is already congested. "We have enough cars already," said Dearman, "why do we need publicity for more."

Other members of the committee, however, said the work of both the REA and the San Francisco Convention and Visitor's Bureau is needed to help tourism in general. Dan E. London of San Francisco moved for approving the contract with both the REA and the Convention Bureau. Ben K. Lerer abstained but gave no reason.

Marin Director George H. Ludy was present but did not vote because he was not a member of either committee. He said he is going to vote for approval tomorrow.

New President For Fire Chiefs

Tiburon Fire Chief Franklin J. Busher last night was named president of the Marin County Fire Chiefs Association replacing Larkspur Fire Chief George Bartram, who is retiring.

The fire chiefs, meeting at Stinson Beach, agreed to sponsor a fire fighting demonstration on Oct. 6 at Redwood High School.

Bolinas Fire Chief Jose A. Silva and Stinson Beach Fire Chief Ira Switzer were invited to join the association, according to Busher.

The next meeting will be Sept. 25 at a time and place to be announced.

Doctors Report New Gains For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, now off the critical list, was reported today to be making new progress.

The progress is such, doctors at the Walter Reed Army Hospital said, that they are curtailing to a single medical bulletin a day reports on his condition unless there is some presently unforeseen change.

The doctors, who announced yesterday that the general had been removed from the critical list—although still in a "serious" condition—also reported that his appetite is improving and his restricted low sodium diet is "slowly being liberalized."

In a medical bulletin issued shortly after 7 a.m. (PDT) today the doctors reported:

"General Eisenhower has had another comfortable night. The decreased evidence of cardiac irritability, noted in yesterday's bulletins persists.

There have recently been three medical reports per day.

Illegal Quail Bring Court Fine

Donald W. Rodereick, 32, of 4 Marin Road, Fairfax, was fined $50 in West Marin Justice Court today for possession of two quail out of season, Stella Philipscheck, clerk, reported.

Quiet In Content

CONTENT, Tex. (UPI)—A hamlet of only about 30 persons now, Content got its name from the peacefulness of the valley in which it is located in western Texas. Its growth stopped in 1906, when the railroad bypassed the town and many settlers picked up and moved adjacent to where the tracks were laid.

Painter Vents His Chicago Anger By Splashing Paint

CONCORD (UPI)—A Concord painter watched the tumultous Democratic National Convestion on television until early today, then vented his anger at the Chicago police by splashing paint on the Concord police station and three patrol cars.

Officer Jerry Zwickey said he came upon David B. Widner, 24, at 2:30 a.m. armed with a big bucket of paint and a paintbrush. Zwickey said Widner was busy decorating the cars and the station wall with a peace symbol.

Zwickey said Widner, displeased at the interruption, turned on him with the paintbrush and bucket. Widner, who said he was angry at the clubbing of demonstrators by Chicago police, was booked for resisting arrest, malicious mischief and assault on a policeman.

Two Elected To Employee Retirement Unit

William L. Desmond, county chief of environmental health, and Sgt. Wade R. Powell of the sheriff's office will continue on the Marin County Employees Retirement Board for new three-year terms.

The two, both incumbents on the board, were elected Tuesday in a close contest. Their present terms expire Nov. 1.

Sergeant Powell, the safety employees representative, received 48 votes to 42 for Robert F. Bertrand. Among firemen, Chief Louis J. Bloom received 14 to Alden Fleming's 12. Bloom will be the alternate safety member on the board.

Desmond represents county employees at large. He received 190 votes to top a field of four candidates. The others were Genevieve Pettit of the auditor-controller's office, 186 votes; Veterans Service Officer James V. Burdick, 162, and Allan S. Juson of the assessor's office, 43.

Reporter Expelled From Greece

ATHENS (AP) —The Greek government expelled a West German correspondent yesterday accusing her of "continuous attacks against the Greek government."

The regime also charged that the correspondent, Eva Goetz, appeared before a meeting of the Republican Club of Cologne on a recent trip to Germany and suggested a tourist and economic boycott of Greece.

Adult Evening Class Times At Novato High, Hamilton

Novato Adult Evening High School classes will start the week of Sept. 16 at both Novato High School and the Education Center at Hamilton Air Force Base, it was announced today by Principal Robert McKeay.

An exception is the piloting and safe boating class which will start at 7 p.m. Thursday in the lecture hall on the Novato High School campus with the Marin Power Squadron providing the instruction.

Advance registration may be made at either the Adult Evening High School office in the Novato Unified School District office at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, or at the education building on the base, McKeay said. Registration may also be done at the first session of the class. All classes will be from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

At Hamilton Air Force Base Education Center, U. S. history I and government will be taught on Mondays and Wednesdays, and English grammar and composition on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Typing will be taught during the daytime, hours to be announced later, McKeay said.

The Novato High School schedule is:

MONDAYS: Antiques, auto mechanics I, data processing, electricity, investments and securities, law for the family, modern mathematics for parents and typing I and II.

TUESDAYS: Business machines, beginning sewing, drama, driver education and training, beginning knitting, metal shop, organ, conversational Spanish and upholstery.

THURSDAYS: Americanization — citizenship preparation and English for the foreign born, advanced sewing, ceramics, interior decoration, advanced knitting, piloting and safe boating, photography, beginning shorthand, and upholstery.

Marinite Hurt In Sonoma Wreck

A 65-year-old San Rafael woman was injured in a broadside collision at the intersection of Highway 37 and Highway 121 in Sonoma County at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Frances Lynch of 11B Taylor Street was treated at Marin General Hospital for a back sprain.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Russell J. Lynch, 53, of the same address, which collided with a vehicle driven by Gerald P. Wooley, 62, of Redlands, San Bernardino County, after Lynch pulled out from a stop sign, the highway patrol said.

Home Burgled

Florette W. Pomeray, 67 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito, told police a typewriter, gun, camera and clothing worth $434 were stolen from her residence Tuesday.

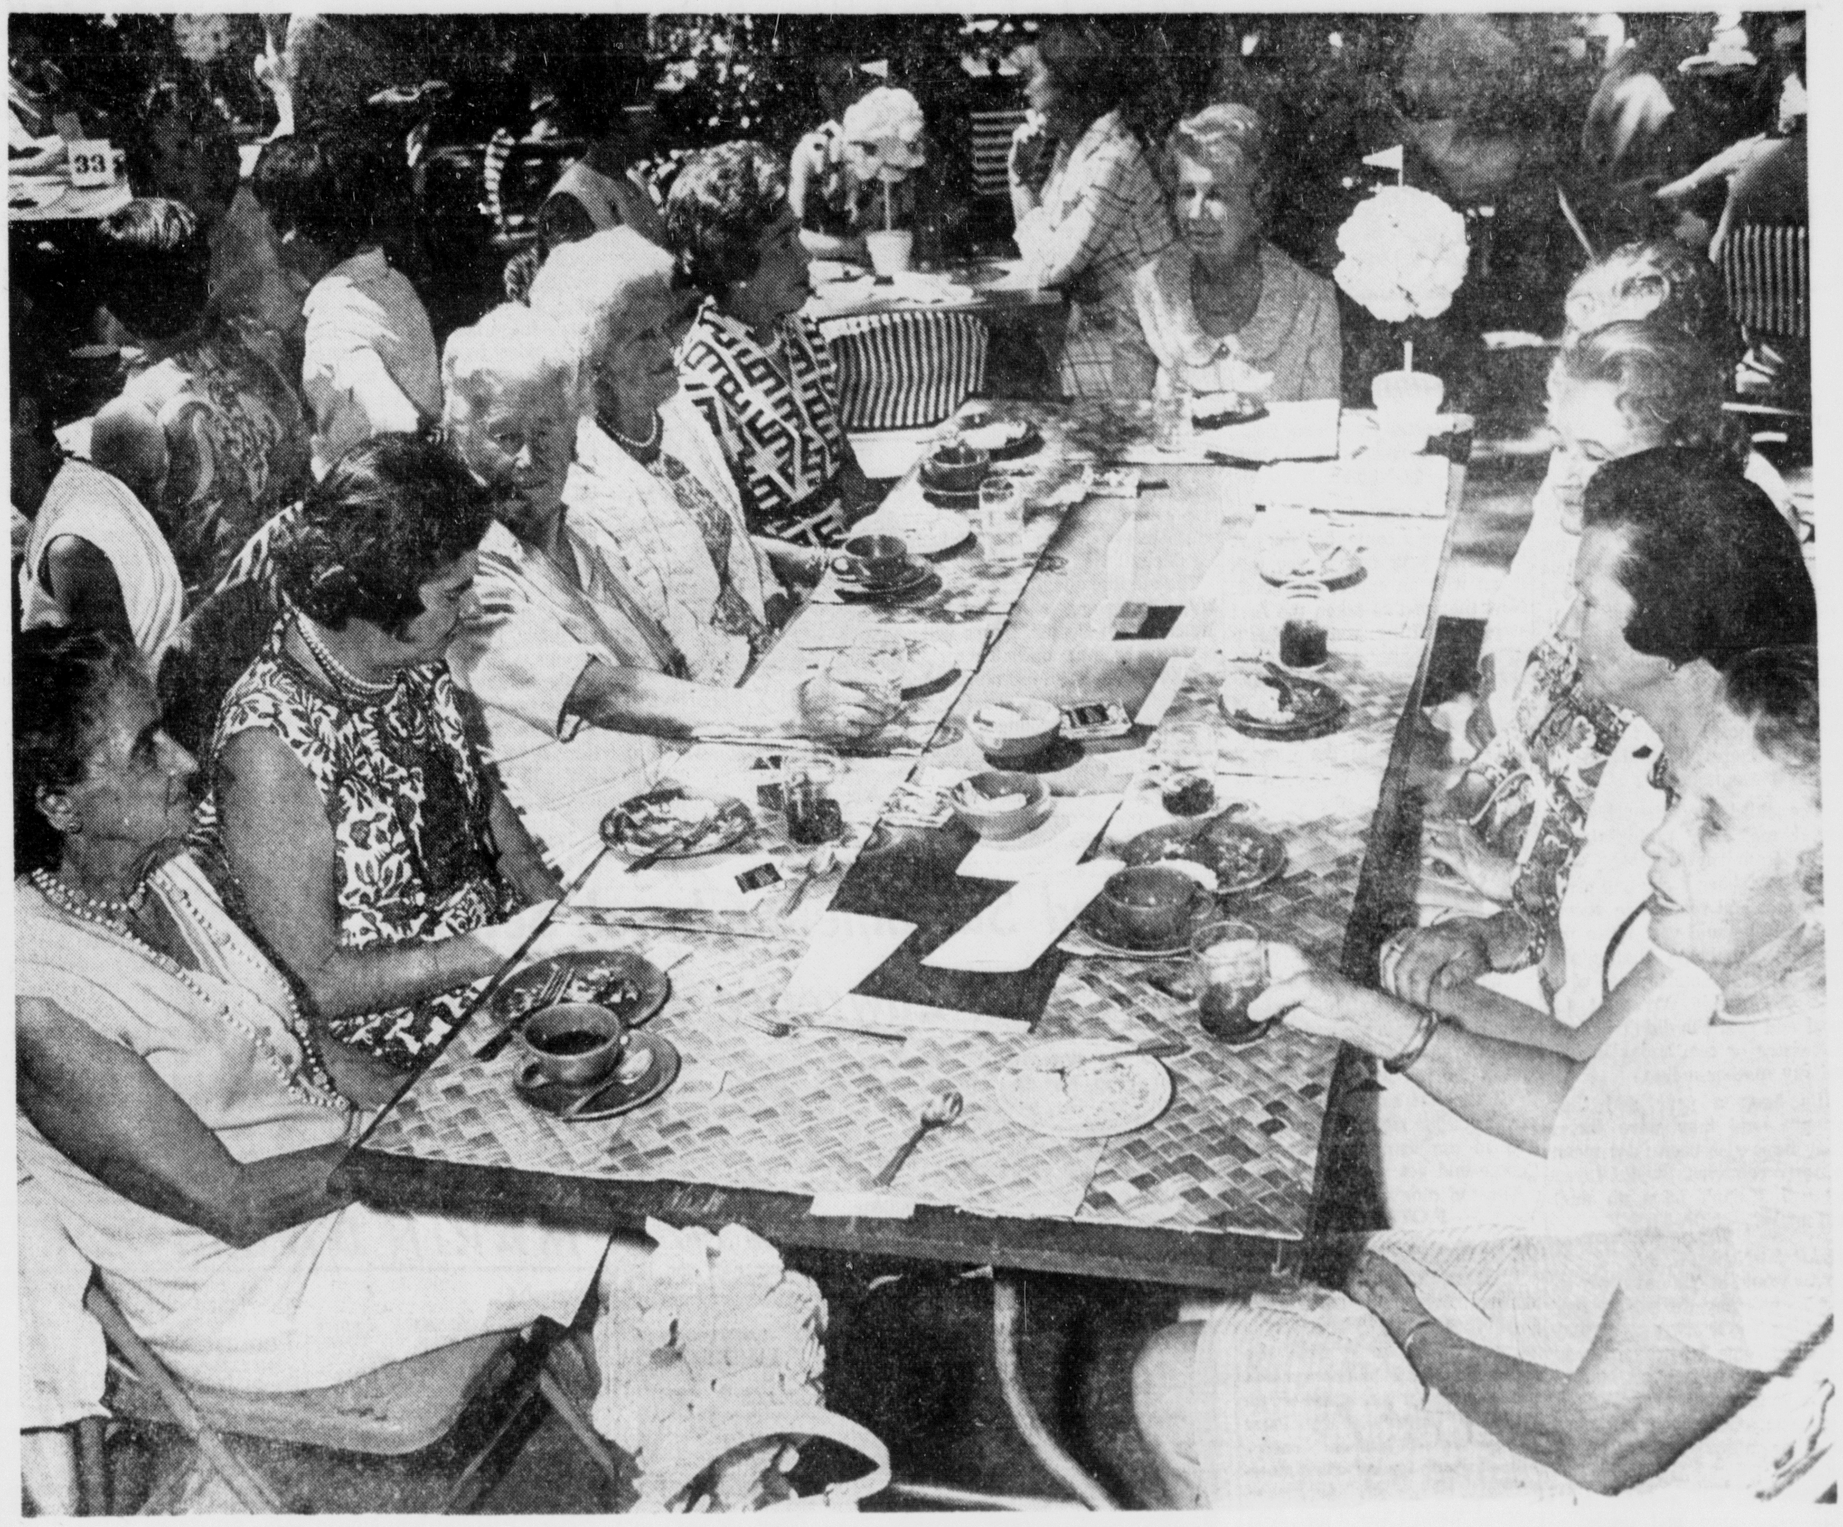
Marin Women

BACKSTAGE, MRS. Sandy Greenblat adds her finishing touches before coming on the runway. A member of Pixie Parents, Inc., she models a gold lame brocade costume suit, one of the highlights of yesterday's fashion luncheon co-sponsored by the Novato Branch of the American Association of University Women, Garden Society of Marin, Center Pathfinders, Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science, Marin Conservation League, Marin Garden Club, Pixie Parents, Inc. and Northgate Group, which has co-sponsored each of the six fashion luncheons.

MRS. DAVID LE FEVRE, a member of the Novato Branch of the American Association of University Women, models a sleeveless plaid dress with gold chain belt for the capacity crowd at yesterday's Northgate fashion luncheon at the Marin Art and Garden Center. The V-neck, which is designed for dressy occasions, can be covered up by a dickie and suited for most modest and casual occasions.

A FELT HAT tops the outfit of Mrs. Bruce Cullen, a member of co-sponsoring organization, the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science. Mrs. Cullen models a cable tweed suit of red, gray, charcoal and black. The top has a leather look, which is actually nylon glace and feels like capeskin.



FASHION LUNCH FINALE

Members of the Marin Garden Club and their guests enjoyed yesterday's fashion luncheon, the last of the Northgate series for the season, at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. They include, from left, Mesdames Clifford Flacks, Frederick Allen; Robertson Ward, president of the Marin Garden Club; Russell Smith; Frederick Franklin; Joseph Crawford; James Kirkpatrick; Arthur Feidler; Kent Seymour; and Wallace Scott. ANYTHING GOES

Back-To-School Fashions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's a "do your own thing" swing in fashion for the back to college and high school set this year.

Those were the words with which one member of the college board selling in the campus shops of a leading Chicago retail store summed up the trends. Added all together, the educated look means so much variety the teen set, boy or girl, can go for broke with just about any classic or novelty and be with it during the school year.

LEADING ARE the looks of: leather, copies of American Indian clothes, the "what was his or hers is now theirs" trend, a revival in some areas of styles of the 1930's, the return of wide belts, stovepipe legged trousers, turtlenecks, Nehru or "meditation" influences, separates, "attic" outfits, foreign costumes, long sweaters, vests everywhere, and in footgear for the girls the chunky, clunky look of the boys'.

In a survey of a dozen cities scattered geographically, United Press International reporters, checking department stores and specialty shops, found these other trends:

The Highland fling, with clan plaids showing in everything from sports to evening wear; a favorite for kilts or culottes too, and for evening long and flaring or pleated skirts combined with solid shade tops.

THE STOCK SHIRT with its high scarf-wrapped collar a setting for big pins or numerous strands of assorted lengths of necklaces.

Classic tweeds are everywhere, especially the Donegals for skirts, for skirt and weskit combinations, or for trousers suits.

Big news in the everything goes in accessories department; signature rings are worn by the handsful; huge rims still "in" in the specs department; hints of the 1930's in the berets, often worn with long looped scarves; the shoulder handbag going strong, shaped into squares or rectangulars, and on the sleek side; pigskin gauntlet gloves with fringe trim at the wrists.

Lots of copying of the military look, both present and past. Even the double-breasted outfits of Napoleon himself show up in modified versions.

Lots of midi (or mid-calf length) in casual coats; much of the greatcoat or overcoat look to outerwear;

IN HOSIERY for the girls, textures go on and on, but not the old knit rope look of last classics, argyles in one or more colors, herringbones, even zig-zags and checks. Hosiery comes in several lengths with the knee high, deeply cuffed, going over well, and a big season expected for the all-in-one panty hose.

And in the college and high school classics, blazers and sweaters are go-go as usual. Some of the sweaters are elongated enough to make a miniskirt and the favorite look is the deep-V cardigan buttoned number or ribbed one with turtle throat. And there are still plenty of the classic jumpers around.

Throughout the country, the swing is to leather in both basics and accessories. As stores in Detroit told UPI, the leather look shows in either mock skin or vinyl, alongside the real pigskin, suede and the new rugged looking cuir sauvage.

PITTSBURGH REPORTS a leather boom, with vests the leaders to date, coats expected to come later as wintry winds blow. New York department stores report a leather boom too, and one store ran an advertisement which began, "Leather is the hide to seek for fall."

The rugged fabric shows up coupled with the copying of early American Indian attire — buckskin pants fringed down the sides, moccasions, the Pocahontas dress with fringed skirt, cut like a jumper to be worn with long-sleeved blouse. Squaw skirts showed in russet suedes either mini or midi length, and often the midis show with thong-wrapped suede boots reaching all the way to the thigh. Squaw band ring foreheads.

There's some debate on just how strong the Eastern influence is. Denver, for instance, reported the Nehrus waning, although stores had stocked some just in case. Columbus, Ohio, reported both Nehru jackets and pants suits going well.

And in Los Angeles, where many styles start and move East, stores reported the meditation and guru influences strong for younger students — the grade school set. Similar strength for this look for the smaller folks was reported by one Boston store. But this same store reported that for the teens, "The Nehru look is not as strong as they like to think . . . it's not going to be an overpowering influence."

CLOTHES INSPIRED by the American Indian may be widespread nationally, but not in some sections of the Southwest.

As one clothier in Dallas put it, "It is old hat in the Southwest." But in Houston and El Paso, stores reported the Indian styles biggest buyers had been the pre-high school set.

Catching on with the college and high school girls in the Midwest are the bunny-fur skirts, the separates to be coordinated like pantsuits with skirts also available to go with the jacket, blue jeans, dirndl skirts and vests with shirt and tie.

It's leather in the South too. One of the leading stores in Richmond called the trend the dominant one for fall, showing in dresses, coats and in leather-fringed costumes.

AND WHAT OF the unisex trend seen on many big city campuses? It depends on the part of the country? It was yes in Columbus, where one leading store reported "It is here . . . flared leg pants, meditation shirts, beads, pendants, boot shoes and vests are samples of it."

And from Boston, one store reported: "It is not something we would be promoting. It's a fad."

Old Shoes In Fashion

PARIS (UPI) — This winter, women can get away with wearing last season's shoes and still look as stylishly shod as models in many a haute couture salon.

The reason: Delivery delays caused by the upheaval of the May-June "revolution" held-up production of accessories ordered by some designers for openings of their new collections.

So footwear played a much less important part in the fashion picture than it has in other seasons.

The main change evident during the haute couture showings was a predominance of black instead of last year's winter browns. Gunmetal gray patent looked very new and chic, especially when buckled in silver.

Shoes are changing, nevertheless, even if it was obvious that an outfit could look very smart with a classic pair of black pumps.

Shoe specialists like Roger Vivier and Dior were showing many styles with higher vamps to give the foot more support for walking. Heels were often very thick and heavy with soles that stuck out beyond the vamp like running boards.

Boots came in half a dozen different lengths, with short, ankle covering boots particularly important in view of the new importance of trousers in fall and winter wardrobes. High heels in sporty styles often were shown with trouser suits, too.

At the other extreme, there were high, high boots attached to elasticized pants that pulled on like tights.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Boy Told To Write Relatives To Ease Family Situation

DEAR HELEN:

Last summer I went to my aunt and uncle's farm for a weekend. On the first day, I was accused of stealing 50 cents. The second day they left me alone for four hours and told me to put the money back and they'd say no more about it. You see, my aunt went through my suitcase and found 50 cents, but when I told her my sister gave it to me, she wouldn't believe me. I didn't put the money where she told me because it was mine.

The third day they brought me home, after taking the 50 cents from my suitcase. They asked my sister if she had given it to me, and seemed to accept it when she said yes. When my parents got home that night, they called my aunt to see what was the trouble. My aunt got mad and said she didn't believe my sister or me, and also called my mother a liar.

It's been a year and they haven't said they were sorry. They have also been very mean to other relatives. Should I just pretend I don't have an aunt and uncle? — NON-THIEF

DEAR NON:

This would be the easy way — and I can't say I'd blame you. But then you'll always get that broody twinge when you hear their names. It's no fun, carrying a grudge all your life — especially when it's over something as small as a 50-cent piece.

So, do yourself a favor and write your aunt and uncle a letter. Make it friendly and casual, and at the end say, "Let's forget about last summer, shall we?"

If you don't get a relieved and apologetic reply — well, at least you'll feel better for having tried, and you can scratch these relatives off your list without feeling guilty about it.

— HELEN

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 17 and afraid of boys. If one comes near me I feel like I'm going to be sick. When one accidently bumps into me or touches me, I freeze and shiver. I've never told anyone about this before.

When I was seven years old, I was molested by a man. Could this be causing me to hate males? — LONELY

DEAR LONELY:

Of course it could, but you can overcome your fear if you talk it out with an expert counselor. Now that you've taken the first step — putting your problem down on paper — the next won't be nearly as hard. Show your parents this column, and ask them to make an appointment for you with the Family Service Agency, or consulting psycholoist.

You'll learn right away that you aren't alone — many girls have your kind of hang-up — and that in itself is half the battle won. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN:

You said you didn't know what a virgin pin was. It's just a little round circle pin and can be worn by anyone. When I was in school the fad was if you wore it on the left side, you were a virgin; on the right, you weren't, and in the center,you were a "come and get me girl."

The fad didn't last very long.

— FAITHFUL READER

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with most of the answer "Concerned Girl" gave about making-out before you're old enough to know what it's all about. But I disagree when she says "guys will be guys" as if they all will try. It isn't true.

I'm an 18-year-old male. When I date, I very much want the trust of the girl and of her parents. When I kiss a girl, it is with respect and honor, as I feel it is a boy's obligation to protect a girl's virtue — and it's the girls obligation to go out with the fellow who will do so.

— CONCERNED GUY

DEAR G.:

Atta boy, guy. Luv ya.

— HELEN

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Mental Health Auxiliary Elects, Plans 'Happening'

Mental health in Marin County received a transfusion of vitality this year with formation of an Auxiliary to Marin Association for Mental Health.

The organization is composed of wives of professional men in mental health, medicine and related fields. Elected to serve as the charter president of the auxiliary was Mrs. Larry Mishkind of Greenbrae. Sally Mishkind's knowledge of the imporant role an auxiliary can play was gained during her term as president of Marin Association for Mental Health in 1967.

The auxiliary will hold a rummage happening Sept. 6 at the Marin Co-Op Center. Hours will be from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

With an eye to merchandise in perfect condition, auxiliary members have scrounged such treasures as stoves, refrigerators, an antique phonograph, a collection of quality recordings, men's and women's clothing, never-used patio furniture, rare books, jewelry, glassware, appliances, cooking utensils, sportsmen's gear, costumes and other items.

MRS. LARRY MISHKIND

In addition to providing the Mental Health Association with helping hands, the auxiliary members serve as additional spokesmen for the mental health needs in the county and help to promote projects to serve these needs. Already they have been busy with activities ranging from serving as hostesses at the social club for exmental patients, staffing public programs of the association, providing transportation to mental health facilities and stuffing envelopes at the office.

To facilitate volunteer efforts and attendance at monthly meetings, held at First Methodist Church in San Rafael, the auxiliary has a baby sitting service.

Membership chairman of the auxiliary is Mrs. Dan Beittel of Terra Linda. Mrs. Robert Herrick of Ross is vice president; Mrs. Jack Blue of Terra Linda, secretary; and Mrs. Juhan Liikane of San Rafael, treasurer.

Leg Of Lamb

Butter

Butter will maintain its quality in the freezer for about two months. It is advisable to freeze any that you don't plan to use within two or three days.

Sydne Sclar Is Bride In Sausalito

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sclar of Kentfield. She was graduated from Redwood High School and College of Marin and is employed by Southern Pacific in San Francisco.

Charles, who is the son of Mrs. Shirley Grant of Little River and Charles Edward Robinson Jr. of San Francisco, was also graduated from Redwood High School; he attended College of Marin and is studying architecture at Healds College in San Francisco.

Richard Robinson was best man for his brother. Steve Jackson and the bride's brother, Leslie Sclar, ushered.

The bridegroom is also the brother of Shari Robinson and Stephen Grant of Little River. Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Strickler of San Rafael and Mrs. Charles E. Robinson of Mill Valley are his grandparents.

Don Healy Weds Miss Greenwood In Baltimore

Donald Roy Healy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Healy of Mill Valley, claimed Cherlyne R. Greenwood as his bride Saturday afternoon in a ceremony in the chapel at Ft. Holabird in Baltimore, Md., where he is serving with the U.S. Army.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oral D. Greenwood of Carmichael, had as her maid of honor the bridegroom's sister, Marilyn C. Healy of San Francisco. Best man was Robert Nickisch of Baltimore.

A reception was held at Minnick's Restaurant in Baltimore. After a brief honeymoon the couple will live in Balitmore while the bridegroom is at Ft. Holabird.

The bride was graduated from Burroughs High School in Burbank and attended Oregon State University. She is the sister of Mrs. Cecil K. Meadors Jr. of Burbank.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and Oregon State University. He has two brothers, Christopher and David Healy of Mill Valley, and is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Granville L. Beedle of Mill Valley.

Travel Tip

From the American Automobile Association (AAA) comes this travel tip. If sterling silver earrings, necklaces or bracelets tarnish during a trip to warm humid climates, apply any standard brand of toothpaste to the tarnished area. Apply with cotton or cleansing tissue, rinse the jewelry in warm water and dry thoroughly.

WHAT'S IN MARKETS

Egg Prices Gain In West, Bananas, Melons Plentiful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers will find ample stocks of meat, poultry, fresh vegetables, and fruit in food stores a nd supermarkets.

BROILER-FRYER chickens and turkeys should be conspicuously abundant. Beef roasts and steaks and ground beef are also in the abundant class and should be readily available in most areas. Roasts and other fresh cuts appear to be the featured pork items in most areas along with bacon and smoked picnics.

Fish fillets and halibut steaks are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

In abundance at the produce stands will be carrots, celery, corn, lettuce, peppers, potatoes, and tomatoes. The abundant fruits are cantaloups, grapes, peaches, and watermelon. Bananas may be abundant in some areas.

In the West:

Large and medium eggs are higher in San Francisco and Portland markets this week, while small eggs are up in the Pacific Northwest.

Ready-to-cook turkey hens have advanced in Portland.

PRICE TRENDS are generally mixed on wholesale cuts of both fresh and cured pork. Fresh loins have dropped in all markets, while sliced bacon is showing increases in all areas. Smoked boneless hams are also up in the bay area.

Beef listings, and those on calf, veal, and lamb, are fairly steady.

FRUITS and vegetables in best supply include bananas, grapes, peaches, watermelons, beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, cucumbers, lettuce, dry onions, potatoes and tomatoes.

MEADERS agrees it may be easier for them to tag your cleaning with metal staples, or hang your skirts with shark-toothed clamps. But the old-fashioned safety pin won't leave a mark on your favorite dress. Or leave you with chipped nail polish. You won't even find a tag or a pin on your clothing by the time you get it back—Meaders removes them for you. A small thing?

Bay Area Patrons Gearing For Opera Season Opening

By ALAN JONES

One of the biggest Bay Area events this time of year is not a performance but a ticket sale.

Tickets for single performances of this season's San Francisco Opera are now on sale at the opera box office and at Sherman Clay in San Francisco. The opera season opens Sept. 13 with Verdi's "Ernani."

As the opera bows in, Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies bow out, with its final performance of the season at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at Winterland in San Francisco.

Performances are also scheduled at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday, 2:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Another annual spectacular, Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus, will close at Oakland's Coliseum Monday night and open at the Cow Palace Wednesday for a five-day run. Shows are at 2:30 and 8 p.m. daily except Sunday and Monday when the evening show is at 6:30 p.m.

The last American Conservatory Theater production of the season, "Your Own Thing," continues to pack in crowds at Marines' Memorial Theater in San Francisco and is scheduled to run through Dec. 8.

The San Francisco Mimie Troupe will perform "The Farce of Patelin" at noon tomorrow in the Golden Gate Park Panhandle and at 2 p.m. Saturday in Earl Warren Park, Castro Valley. "Ruzzante" will be performed at 2 p.m. Saturday in Live Oak Park, Berkeley, and the two shows will swap places for 2 p.m. performances Sunday. "Patelin" will be given at 2 p.m. Monday in Washington Square, San Francisco and at 2 p.m. Thursday at Aquatic Park, San Francisco.

"The Fantasticks," in its fifth year, will continue at Ghirardelli Square, San Francisco, at 8:30 nightly except Monday and at 8 and 10:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

At the Curran Theater, "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" bows out Saturday night and the Civic Light Opera production of "Cabaret" opens Sept. 10. "Clear Day" will be seen at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday, and "Cabaret" will be performed at 8:30 p.m. daily except Sunday, with 2:30 p.m. matinees Saturday and Wednesday.

The Committee's new show at 622 Broadway, San Francisco, is seen nightly except Monday at 9 and 11 p.m., with Saturday shows at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m.

The Little Fox Theater in San Francisco continues with "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," nightly except Monday at 8:30 p.m. and at 8 and 10:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

In Palo Alto, the Cameo Curtain Callers present the melodrama "The Dairy of a Goldstrike, or, Her Mother Was a Lady," at 8:30 p.m. at 4120 El Camino Real. Closed Monday.

MUSIC

Basin Street West in San Francisco presents the Ramsey Lewis Trio tomorrow and Saturday with shows at 9:30 p.m. and 2:30 a.m.

On Saturday at 7 p.m. at the M. H. De Young Museum in Golden Gate Park, the West Coast New Music Ensemble conducted by Gerhard Samuel will present a twilight concert.

The Old Spaghetti Factory in San Francisco will present music of Brahms and Schubert at 8:30 p.m. Sunday with Margret Winkler, soprano, Ernest Michaelian, violin, Bette Weinstock, piano and George Nealy, horn.

Sausalito Festival To Open On Saturday

In a riotous swirl of color and sound the annual Sausalito Arts Festival will be Saturday through Monday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Bank of America parking lot on Bridgeway.

Among the artists taking part are Jean Varda, Laura Devendorf, Donald and Gloria Dudley, Ada Garfinkel, Albert Garvey, Mary Lindheim, William Kirsch, Farhad Moezzi, Leah Schwartz, Gwen Stone and Serge Trubach.

There will also be a special children's "art in action." Youngsters from 5 to 10 years old will paint, sculpt, make pottery and work on stained glass windows.

Ten prizes of $200 each, donated by Sausalito merchants, will be awarded. The artists themselves will be judges.

Jean Varda of Sausalito has done the over-all design for the festival and also painted an enormous mural behind the stage.

Saturday at noon a far-out fashion show will be presented by clothes designers of the Velvet Underground, narrated by poet Lew Welch with music by the George Duke Trio.

Also performing on Saturday will be the rock band Rejoice, guitar and folk singer Harriet Carter and the Dick Conte Trio. Nat Johnson will be master of ceremonies.

Sunday at 2 p.m. poet Welch will perform his own one-man play.

Other entertainers that day will be the Merrill Hoover Trio, singer Al Jarreau accompanied by guitarist Julio Martinez, the Notes from the Underground, ballet Afro-Haiti featuring the Duncan Company of 15 dancers and musicians and the Kitty Williams Jazz Quintet with Dave Van Kriedt. Dan Riley will be in charge.

Monday performers will be the jazz rock group Meridian West, folk singers Tom and Lee, lute and classical guitarist Ron Chinn, Billy Moore's Latin ensemble, an hour-and-a-half show from the Lion's Share in Sausalito, jazz singer Carol Leigh and singer Jean Hoffman. Al Pimental will be master of ceremonies.

There will be free parking at the Martin Luther King School at the north end of Sausalito and a 25-cent shuttle bus service from the school to the festival will be available.

Festival's Program Is Announced

Works to be performed Sunday in the eighth annual Mozart Festival in Stolte Grove, Homestead Valley, have been announced by Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt, music chairman for the sponsoring Homestead Valley Improvement Club.

Starting at 1 p.m. the Bach to Mozart Chamber Players will perform Concerto for Seven Trumpets and Percussion, Altenberg; Concerto for Two Oboes in A Major, Vivaldi, featuring Raymond Duste and Eleanor Biondi; serenade from "Don Giovanni," Mozart, featuring Edgar Jones, baritone, and Gail Denny, mandolin; aria "Meine Seufzer, Meine Tranen," J. S. Bach, with Jones, George Nagata, violin; Ellen Dessler, cello; and Margaret Fabrizio, continuo; and Divertimento K. 188 for two oboes, five trumpets and percussion, Mozart.

After intermission the program will include Quartet for Clarinet and Strings featuring Frealon Bibbins; "Die Jung Magd," Hindemith, with Jones, Bibbins and Gary Gray, flute; and Concerto for Trumpet, Tomaso Albinoni, featuring Edward Haug.

Brown's Hall on Miller Avenue since parking near the grove is not allowed. Free bus service starts at 11:30 a.m.

Food and drinks may be purchased at the grove, or those attending may bring their own picnics.

Since about 1,000 persons are expected to attend from all over the Bay Area and only 200 chairs are provided, bringing cushions or blankets is suggested.

Morals Case Hearing Set

Milford K. Parker, 26, of no fixed address, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Preliminary hearing was set for Wednesday. Parker was released on his own recognizance. He was arrested Tuesday by Sausalito police on a warrant issued by Judge Peter Allen Smith.

Closed Meeting

The Kentfield School District Board will meet in closed session at 8 p.m. today in the district office to interview candidates for the vice principal's position at Adaline E. Kent School. No other business is on the agenda.

Marijuana Plea Scheduled

Alfred Lawrence Rose, 27, of San Francisco was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for possession of marijuana and ordered to plead to the charge today.

Rose and a companion, Eric Meadow, 24, of San Francisco, were arrested Tuesday afternoon by Belvedere police who checked out Rose's vehicle because it was a "hippie car" and out of place in Belvedere, according to Police Chief William S. Woodington.

Injured Boy In 'Good' Condition

Nine-year-old Larry Fulkerson, injured last Saturday in a bicycle-auto collision near his home, was reported in good condition and improving today in Kaiser Hospital, San Francisco.

Larry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Fulkerson of 2 San Benito Way, suffered a leg fracture and head injuries in the accident. He lay by the street for 20 minutes or more before an ambulance arrived from San Rafael. Novato emergency ambulance service was suspended early this month because Novato Amublance Co. found it unprofitable.

Monkey Lives Month Inside Space Capsule

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 15-pound monkey who spent four weeks strapped inside a simulated spacecraft as a prelude to a monkey-manned space shot next year was reported in excellent health today.

UCLA doctors examined the Macaque monkey after he emerged from the 57-inch capsule yesterday, clad in an nylon flight suit.

Results of the experiment will be used to prepare for the launch early next year of the biosatellite, in which a monkey will orbit the earth for 30 days.

The astromonk will be recovered by an airplane which will snare the capsule as it drifts to earth on a parachute near Hawaii. The flight is expected to provide data on the effects of prolonged weightlessness.

The monkey completed two 30-minute task periods a day during the dry run. They involved checks of short-term memory and discrimination between visual symbols and of coordination of eye and hand movements.

The primate was rewarded with food pellets for successful performances.

Stabbings Send Couple To Hospital

A 61-year-old San Rafael man, who reportedly has threatened to kill his wife several times in recent weeks, stabbed and seriously wounded her today and then turned the knife on himself, police reported.

Mildred M. Threat of 25 Hayes Street was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital today with stab wounds in the neck. Her husband, Joe W. Threat, was reported in good condition at the hospital with neck wounds.

The victims' son, Jack, 19, told police the stabbing occurred in the bathroom at 7:05 a.m. Police found Mrs. Threat sitting on the living room couch, holding her throat with a blood-stained handkerchief.

The son told officers he was awakened by his mother after the stabbing. He said his father, who has been bed-ridden for several weeks, has threatened his mother's life on several occasions in the past.

Police said the case will be turned over to the district attorney.

Purse With $300 Taken From Store

Four minor burglaries and a grand theft were among crimes reported by the Marin sheriff's office today.

Victim of the grand theft was Phyllis Brockmann of 10 Fawn Lane, Corte Madera, who said she left her purse for a few minutes Tuesday on a counter in the Little Daisy of Marin store in Strawberry. When she returned, the purse containing $300 was gone, officers said.

Eleanora R. Ewing of 469 Panoramic Highway, Mount Tamalpais, complained that someone broke through a window of her house in mid-July and stole her $600 camera.

Stuart A. Lumsden of 921 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, said someone stole a $100 shotgun from his home Tuesday.

Abbie S. Purcell of Inverness said someone pried the window of her car Tuesday and stole a beach bag while the car was parked at Shell Beach.

A thief with a habit and a sweet tooth broke a lock yesterday on Tweedy's General Store at 290 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, and stole cigarettes and candy, officers said.

Burglars Hit Santa Venetia Middle School

On Monday, someone broke into the Renzo Menicucci residence at 527 Midvale Way, Tamalpais Valley, jimmying a bedroom window, but the extent of items taken was not known, deputies said.

Two socket wrench kits valued at $35 were stolen Monday night from a laundromat at 201 Flamingo Road, Tamalpais Valley.

Tentative Jury Picked For Youths

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) —A tentative jury of seven men and five women was seated at the beginning of today's session of the kidnap-murder trial of two Washington State farm youths.

Thirteen prospective jurors were questioned during yesterday's session as the slow process of selecting a panel continued into its third day. Five were seated.

The prosecution has used eight peremptory challenges and the defense six.

On trial are Thomas Braun and Leonard Maine, both 19 from Ritzville, Wash. They are accused of slaying Timothy Luce and critically wounding his girlfriend, Susan Bartolomei, near Ukiah last August.

The trial was moved to San Jose from Mendocino County after the California Supreme Court ruled the defendants could not receive a fair trial in Ukiah.

Car Recovered, But $600 Worth Of Items Taken

A car stolen Monday night in Marin was recovered a few hours later after a chase in Strawberry, but the thief escaped and nearly $600 worth of items in the car were missing, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Joseph Carroll of San Francisco reported the car missing at 10:30 p.m. Tiburon police spotted the car at midnight and gave chase. The suspect stopped the car on Strawberry Circle, Strawberry, and escaped on foot.

Carroll told deputies that a $200 bass viol, a $200 bow, a $75 camera, a $75 car radio and the spare wheel were missing.

Found in the car was a battery charger which deputies found had been stolen Monday night from Darrell J. Thompson of 209 Richardson Drive, Strawberry.

Reports did not indicate where Carroll's car was parked when stolen.

Zoo Directors Arranging Assignation For Pandas

MOSCOW (AP) —An-An is in great shape for his meeting in London with Chi-Chi and another try at the giant panda romance, the Moscow Zoo reported today.

An-An is due to fly to London tomorrow in the first class section of a jet airliner as a guest of the London Zoo. He will resume his acquaintance with Chi-Chi, who refused his advances when she visited Moscow two years ago.

That frustrated hopes for the first baby giant panda to be born in the Western world. An-An and Chi-Chi are the only two of the species in captivity outside their native China and North Korea.

Dr. Igor Sosnovsky, Moscow Zoo director, said today An-An will stay in London until early November.

Chi-Chi showed a preference for a slow courtship when she was here. She gave An-An a whack when they met for the first time and he failed to keep a proper distance.

The two got along much better after living in adjoining cages but Chi-Chi's giant panda heart was never quite conquered. It is hoped that she might be more yielding at home than far away in a strange city like Moscow.

To keep An-An from feeling lonely and possibly losing his interest in romance, he will be accompanied to London by Sosnovsky and Stanislav Kudryavtsev, a Moscow zoologist.

Preliminary Hearing Is Reset

Preliminary hearing for Marshall Ewin Craig, 19, of Marin City, was reset yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to 9:30 a.m. Sept. 30.

Mixed Rain, Fair, Cool Weather

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair and cool weather covered much of the northern half of the country today while thundershowers spilled rain into portions of the West and the Southeast.

Chilliest predawn temperatures were centered over the Great Lakes region and extended eastward into Pennsylvania. Pellston, Mich., and Philipsburg, Pa., registered 39 degrees.

Readings in the 50s and 60s were common from the Pacific Northwest to the Middle Atlantic States and New England.

Heavy rains falling out of a storm system over central Florida tapered off during the night. Jacksonville was swamped with nearly eight inches in downpours through yesterday.

A broad area of showers dampened the region from the Texas panhandle and Oklahoma north into Wyoming and the Dakotas.

Equipment Believed Taken From School

A burglary in which the front and several interior doors at San Rafael High School were pried open was discovered by police yesterday.

Officers who searched the school after finding the front door standing open at 12:11 a.m. said two adding machines may have been taken.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 29, 1968 — 23

'Gun' To Cut Vaccination Needle Pain

A new type of shot "gun" to replace the traditional syringe and needle will be used for the measles vaccination clinic to be sponsored by the Marin County Health Department Sept. 4 to 6.

The device is held next to the arm and shoots out a stream of the vaccination under pressure created by an attached generator, according to Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer. She said the process stings a little and makes a sound like a child's pop gun.

The device is used only when no less than 50 shots are to be given. Its chief value is its efficiency, said Dr. Albrecht. It has to be filled only once every 50 shots.

The county health department is offering the shots because state law now requires all pupils entering school in California for the first time to present evidence of immunity to measles.

The vaccine will be furnished free by the state for all children entering first grade or younger.

Persons of any age, through junior college, who need the measles vaccination may go to the health department at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, between 1:30 and 4 p.m. Sept. 4 to 6.

A fee will be charged those above first grade, Dr. Albrecht said, but no one will be turned away because of inability to pay.

Persons are not required to go to the health department, but may see their personal physician for the vaccination, Dr. Albrecht said.

Poverty War Recruits Want To Be Filled In

New members of the Economic Opportunity Council pleaded last night for a simple, brief outline of the council's purpose.

Supervisor John F. McInnis told the council he would not return unless he knew why he was coming, what the board is supposed to do, something of the programs and received a copy of the budget.

He said the group should have such an outline for residents of Marin who want to know about the council.

"Your public relations are wretched," McInnis said. He defined public relations as "a personal projection of program."

"I'm not trying to tear you apart," McInnis said. "I'm trying to find a way through the hurdles."

His request was seconded by Robert T. Simmons of Corte Madera. After long discussion, Simmons was named chairman of a committee to guide the economic opportunity staff in preparing a short summary.

He said some of the agencies asked to send representatives have not complied, although staff members have written and called them.

Other agencies have made appointments but their nominees have not responded, Brown said.

He refused to name either group, but promised to send McInnis a list of those who have not been heard from.

He explained that the council's budget had been cut by $21,000 and the cut included parent-volunteer coordination for preschool programs, such as Head Start.

The Volunteer Bureau of Marin County, Inc., said in a letter that the coordinator was important to the program.

Brown said it would cost about $5,000 to hire the coordinator and he appointed representatives to raise the money from private individuals.

"If a function of this group is to go out and raise funds for every failing program, I don't know how it has stayed alive this long," McInnis commented.

Persons who are now official members of the EOC board and the cities and agencies they represent are Robert C. Bundy, Larkspur; Branwell D. Fanning, Tiburon; Paul K. McMullen, San Rafael; Robert M. Scott, San Anselmo; Robert T. Simmons, Corte Madera; Sam W. Schneider, Mill Valley; Adelaide Wilson, Fairfax; Mary Lindheim, Sausalito;

McInnis, the board of supervisors; Donald O. Stutsman, the housing authority; Betty Presley, the Department of Public Social Services; Sally Mayer, civil rights organizations; Rev. John O'Connor, Catholic Soocial Service; Thomas C. Place, the Marin County Labor Council; Rev. David C. Jacobsen, Council of Churches; Rose Paul, Senior Citizens;

Brown, Roger Jones, Arthur Miller, Mrs. Eloise Brown, Elihu Johnson, Pearson Knightson, Frank Phillips, all of Marin City; John Palunco of San Anselmo, and Ellen Henry of Fairfax, representatives of the poor.

11th Seeks Job On College Panel

Bernard J. Kerns of 16 Tralee Way, San Rafael, is the 11th applicant for the vacant seat on the Marin Junior College District board, according to Theodore C. Wellman, board president.

Hard Plight Of The Poor In Marin

the county were Caucasian. No current figures are available.

The largest concentrations of the county's 2,977 welfare cases are found in San Rafael (969) and Marin City (345), but Betty L. Presley, director of the county public social services department, estimates that 60 per cent of the persons eligible for welfare cannot, or refuse to, be reached.

Welfare, in any event, is only a minimum handout. Few live properly on it. Few of the poor escape it, either, because of a lack of vocational services.

Annoyed taxpayers ask why recipients of public dole cannot find jobs. Welfare officials reply that training and other special needs are required in order to insure lasting employment.

Vocational services open to welfare recipients are meager. Only $6,000 is available in the current county budget for tuition, transportation and other special needs.

"We have to concentrate on male heads of households," said Eleanor Wight, a social service supervisor in the welfare department. "We have women coming to us and saying they want to work, but all we can say is that we appreciate their motivation but we just don't have the funds."

With improved vocational services — which include funds for babysitters — Mrs. Richards (ficticious name) of Marin City and scores of other AFDC mothers might not be on the welfare rolls.

Mrs. Richards, 25, said she wants to escape public assistance and find work as a teacher's or nurse's aide, but doesn't have the money for a babysitter for her three children.

The Marin County Schools Office provides such service in Marin City and Novato, but the centers open late — 9 a.m. — and Mrs. Richards said she would need someone to watch her children after an expected early departure for work.

Her monthly allotment of $268 is gravely inadequate to maintain basic living, let alone support babysitting, she said. It means Mrs. Richards and her children are living on $8.92 a day, whereas the average Marin family, according to last month's OEO report, has a daily income of $26.

"You just try to stay out of debt," Mrs. Richards said. "You get behind and catch up, get behind and catch up. I'm not too good on budgeting. I just try to make do with what I have.

"I've been on welfare seven years and it's embarrassing. I'll be glad when I get on my own. I want to get myself together so I can make it. I want to answer to no one and like it."

On $268 a month — a combination of state and federal funds and a county supplement — Mrs. Richards, like other AFDC mothers, fights a losing struggle to provide a sufficient diet for her family.

She said she spends about $35 every two weeks on food ($2.50 a day), but doesn't shop in Marin City. Without a car, she must ask friends to give her a lift into Mill Valley, where a market offers better buys. She pays a dollar or two for the rides.

The family meals contain far more starches and fats than protein. Fresh milk is usually replaced by canned and powdered varieties. Vegetables are rationed.

"There's no milk at all in the house now," Mrs. Richards said. It was the middle of the month and she said she had $5 to last her until September's check arrived at the beginning of the month.

"I'll borrow money until next month, I guess," she said.

All welfare recipients are given a budget by the public social services department, but few can follow it. So, they juggle the funds.

Mrs. Johnson, (ficticious name) 29, of Fairfax, mother of three, divorced, is supposed to spend $28.50 a month for herself and $27.50 each for her two boys, 7 and 9, and 10-year-old daughter, an allotment of $289, for food, shelter and clothing.

The usual dinner at the home, she said, is "ham hocks, beans, a vegetable and maybe cabbage slaw."

Milk?

"They get soda crackers when the other kids get apples and bananas," Mrs. Johnson said.

Her budget also allows $87 for rent, although she pays $155, plus utilities, for a neat, three-bedroom house.

"I don't know where I could find a place cheaper," she said. "The rent was better across the street, but it rained very hard once and the house was flooded. My bed finally fell through the floor."

Mrs. Johnson, having some secretarial skills, would like to get work, but also faces babysitting problems.

"I just hope that my children have something better than I had."

'HONEST KIDS' GIVE LESSON TO FORGETFUL

"Tell people who park there to lock the doors; don't help a good boy to go bad," signed "Three Honest Kids."

That advice, received last night by Novato Police, was attached to a box containing $150 worth of radio equipment and other items left in front of Nave Garage at 7515 Redwood Highway.

At 10:45 p.m., the police received an anonymous phone call that the items were there in a box. It contained a double yellow flasher, a three-way police radio, a first aid kit, an electronic siren and a speaker.

The note, attached to the box said that after they had talked it over, the boys decided that they were too honest to keep the stuff and decided to return it "though we had a lot of fun with it."

Surfboard Stolen

A $40 surfboard was stolen at 8:30 p.m. yesterday from her car parked in front of her home at 38 Mountain View Avenue, Cynthia Lou Anderson reported to Mill Valley police.

Innocence Pleaded In Draft Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Henry Gregory, 25, a San Anselmo divinity student who refused induction into the Army, pleaded innocent today to charges of violating the selective service act. His trial was set for Sept. 23.

The second-year student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary turned in his draft card during a mass protest outside the Federal Building in San Francisco last Oct. 16. He refused induction Jan. 10 at the Oakland Induction Center and was indicted May 15.

Gregory's deferment expired June 30, 1967. Shortly after beginning his divinity studies last fall, he was reclassified 1-A U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso Zirpoli denied a motion to dismiss the ccase on the grounds that Gregory's reclassification had been punitive.

His attorney, Aubrey Grossman of San Francisco, argued that Selective Service procedures "deny all basic procedurals one is entitled to." He said the draft boards do not check to determine whether men are entitled to deferments.

Gregory, married and father of a six-month-old son, "was entitled to a deferment automatically because he was a divinity student," Grossman said.

Los Angeles Adopts Record Property Tax

LOS ANGELES (AP) —The City Council has passed by unanimous vote a property tax increase that will make the tax rate the highest in the history of the city.

Voting 11-0 yesterday the council approved a 33.75 cent increase that will make the total city rate $2.4155 per $100 of assessed valuation. Property is assessed at 25 per cent of its market value.

The tax increase, which raises the general government purposes levy to its legal limit of 99 cents, became mandatory when the council rejected a proposed $3 basic monthly sanitation charge last week. That levy was opposed by groups claiming it was unfair to homeowners in lower income brackets.

The levy means the owner of a $20,000 home will pay a property tax of about $120.78, up $16.88 from last year.

Added to other property tax levies already assessed a property owner now will pay more than $10 per $100 valuation.

Despite the city property tax increase, which was deplored by mayor Sam Yorty yesterday, the huge city budget of $446.8 million is still nearly $20 million out of balance.

The council earlier had approved a 1 per cent boost in the city sales tax, expected to raise about $44.1 million and a 5 per cent on-sale liquor tax, expected to yield $7 million.

But a ruling by the state attorney general's office and subsequent action by the state legislature cut the sales tax revenue to only $20. million and a court suit threatens the liquor tax.

In addition to its present fiscal woes, councilmen also heard City Administrative Officer C. Erwin Piper warn that the city faces a built-in deficit of $40 million for next year.

Youth Panel Sees Role As Coordinator

The Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission yesterday declared its function is to deal with outside groups as a coordinating agency and not as a service agency to administer programs.

Commissioners agreed they should merely study such organizations as the Switchboard and Youth Power groups and make recommendations to the board of supervisors.

"We don't want to be so involved with one problem, that we lose sight of what we're doing," explained Commissioner Bruce McKenzie.

McKenzie was selected to attend a state-sponsored meeting in Oakland on Sept. 6 to be briefed on new state and federal legislation which might affect such commissions by making cash grants possible. Attending as the youth representative will be Terry Keean.

The commission decided to give more attention to problems involving pre-school age children through the third grade.

The commission intends to formulate an inventory of existing programs in special education and evaluate needs.

A request from the Marin County Mental Health Advisory board for a joint meeting to discuss areas of mutual interest was accepted.

Welfare Policy Said To Differ From Actions

FRESNO (UPI) — Fresno County Welfare Director Reed Clegg says Gov. Ronald Reagan and his welfare director are not on the same frequency when they talk about welfare.

Clegg said yesterday the governor has on numerous occasions announced that welfare is being reduced in the state.

"At the same time his appointed director of social welfare is issuing liberal regulations, some of which are over and above federal requirements," he said.

He was referring to John C. Montgomery whose regulations will cause "accelerated increases in the welfare caseloads and expenditures," according to Clegg.

Clegg also said changes in laws and new state orders will enable farm labor families to earn more than $1,000 a month and still be on welfare.

He made the statements in a letter to Fresno County Administrative Officer Phillip Sanchez.

Many Californians Hurt In River Dock Explosion

PARKER, Ariz. (AP) — Deputies today were probing the wreckage of a Colorado River marina ripped by an explosion late last night which killed one woman and injured at least 10 persons. Many of the injured were Californians.

The blast at Branson's Resort, 12 miles north of Parker, apparently was triggered by a spark which ignited gas in a refueling tank on the dock.

Seven of the victims were flown to St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix where doctors said one woman was dead on arrival. Her identify was withheld pending notice to next of kin.

The injured: Marilyn Feikema, 19, and her sister, Linda, 17, both of Artesia, Calif., both in serious condition; Alice Rogers, 36, of Parker, listed as critical; her son, Robert Taylor, 17, fair; Arlene Meines, 16, Artesia, critical, and Anita Dejong, 16, Artesia, in fair condition.

Arraigned

Anthony Gerard Manna, 20, of no fixed address, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana and a drug for inhibiting appetite in Sausalito Monday. Preliminary hearing was set for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Monagan Sees Post For Finch If Nixon Wins

FRESNO (AP) — Assembly Republican Leader Robert Monagan predicted yesterday Lt. Gov. Robert Finch will get a high-level Washington position if Richard M. Nixon is elected president.

Monagan also told a news conference, "it is highly probable" Finch will run for the U.S. Senate if Republican Sen. George Murphy decides against re-election in 1970.

Morgan said he has not talked to Finch or Nixon but that he has heard rumors that Finch is in line for the Attorney General post if a Republican administration takes over in Washington next year.

Court Hearing Scheduled

At a Marin Municipal Court preliminary hearing yesterday, Eric S. Tainter, 20, of Larkspur, was ordered to appear in court at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 27 for a decision on admissibility of prosecution evidence.

Tainter is charged with possession and sale of marijuana Friday in Mill Valley.

Crucifixion On Heath Planned For Money, Prosecution Charges

LONDON (AP) — The crucifixion of an interior decorator, nailed half-naked to a cross on a lonely London heath, was no religious ritual—it was a plot to make money, a court was told today.

And the interior decorator, Joseph de Havilland, 30, helped and encouraged the three men who spiked him to his cross and tied it to a tree, prosecutor Peter Spencer claimed.

The crucifiers and the victim wanted to sell photographs of the ceremony and "divide the spoils" said the prosecution.

"There is a certain mysticism about the case, but they did it for money," Spencer charged.

De Havilland was found hanging from the cross on Hampstead Heath July 25 by police who lowered him from the tree, pried the six-inch nails from the cross and took him to a hospital. Police said the decorator, dressed only in a pair of pants, was in a semitrance and his hands, despite the iron spikes driven through them, were not bleeding.

Accused of causing "grievous bodily harm" to the man on the cross were Desmond Pollydore and David Conklin, both jobless, and another interior decorator, Erich Leach. The prosecutor said Leach drove the nails in, Pollydore helped out and Conklin took the photographs.

A police constable said he found De Havilland standing on a plank five feet from the ground, tied to a tree with string and nailed to his cross. The policeman said he climbed up a ladder to talk to the victim and then lowered him on the cross before prying out the nails with a crowbar.

"There was no blood anywhere," the policeman said. De Havilland told him his arms were numb but that he didn't hurt because he had "used willpower."

Police said Leach was still on the scene, clutching a hammer and saying: "I nailed him to the cross. I want to see him off. It is the will of God."

The case was adjourned until Sept. 9. The three were held in prison without bail.

Burglary

Lillian Thompson of 1015 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, reported to police yesterday that someone had entered her house while she was in San Francisco and had taken many household items which she had packed to move. Other things were strewn all over the house, police said. Mrs. Thompson had not determined what was missing.

Texas has 67,000 miles of state-maintained, toll-free highways.

Mailliard Opening Campaign Center

Campaign headquarters of William S. Mailliard for Congress will open Tuesday at 2214 Lombard Street, San Francisco, it was announced today by A. Crawford Greene Jr. of Ross, general chairman of the Mailliard campaign committee.

Republican Mailliard is the incumbent congressman from the Sixth District, recently enlarged to include most of Marin along with part of San Francisco. He will be opposed on the Nov. 5 ballot by Democrat Philip H. Drath of San Rafael.

Assailants View Victims As Inhuman: Psychiatrist

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Dr. W. Walter Menninger of Topeka, Kan., a prominent psychiatrist, said last night that humans inflict violence on other people by viewing their victims as something not human.

"It is understandable that we tend to dehumanize, but it is not tolerable in our world if we are to survive," Dr. Menninger told members of the Association for Education in Journalism meeting at the University of Kansas.

Violence in society today represents a breakdown in civilized communications, he said.

The psychiatrist told the journalism teachers that reporters have a heavy responsibility because the public depends on them for information which forms popular attitudes. He said recent news stories on gun control were heavy in volume but provided "relatively few ... significant facts for the careful reader to use to reach effective judgments."

"One of the ills of this nation is the insecurity of so many people who have to believe we are always right," Menninger said adding:

"The hate in this world can only be neutralized effectively by love—real concern for us by others which each one of us personally seeks."

Professor William E. Ames of the University of Washington was named president-elect of the association. The incoming president is Professor James Schwartz of Iowa State University, who succeeds Professor Robert L. Jones of the University of Minnesota.

The teachers were told by Lionel C. Barrow of New York, a Negro advertising executive, that radio and television do an excellent job of reporting civil disorders, but fail often to explain the causes of riots.

Dredging, Apartments Hearing Set

Public hearing on a Strawberry dredging and apartment building project is scheduled by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission for its meeting next Thursday at 10 a.m. in Room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

The project is that of Marin Land Development Co. It seeks a permit to dredge lagoon, adjust shoreline, and place piles for apartments at Harbor Point.

At the same meeting, the commission will consider proposed revisions in its preliminary bar plan. These would permit limited fill where (1) public access to the bay is not available, (2) the shoreline area is unattractive or inaccessible, and (3) private funds for providing access and improving the shoreline could be available if some filling were allowed.

Prowler Punches Orderly In Jaw

An orderly at Parkway Convalescent Hospital, 81 Professional Center Parkway, Terra Linda, told police he was punched in the jaw by a prowler he grappled with Tuesday in the hospital basement.

The orderly, Gerald Goeller, told police he was checking the basement shortly after 1 a.m. when he spotted the prowler opening a door to an adjacent garage, tried to stop him and was struck. The prowler broke loose and escaped.

TWO FACED

Like Victorian? Or do you prefer modern houses with built-in kitchens and good clean lines? Well, here is your chance to have BOTH, almost for the price of one. That's what we're offering in this interesting duplex investment property. The upper unit has Victorian motif, with a separate dining room, large kitchen, and shutters. Lower is modern as tomorrow, with rich wood paneling and a level fenced back yard. Both units have 3 bedrooms and both are in perfect condition. Great location. Close to everything. See this! $35,950.

THROW IN TOWEL?

Breakdowns Slowing Electric Car Race

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—You couldn't accuse the Massachusetts Institute of Technology "throwing in the towel," but that's more or less what happened.

The car, a converted Chevrolet Corvair, is racing against the clock to California while another electric vehicle driven by students from the California Institute of Technology heads this way.

Yesterday the MIT car broke down in Elkhart, Ind., where a fire destroyed the cooling system.

According to the race communications center in Cleveland, run by Machine Design magazine, the MIT racers forgot to remove a wet towel they laid over the motor to keep it cool while recharging.

The towel dried and caught fire. After inspecting the damage the MIT students estimated it would probably be sometime today before they were able to get going again.

The MIT Corvair holds a substantial lead over the Caltech Volkswagen bus in uncorrected mileage, but the race which began Monday noon is actually quite close because the eastern entry was penalized the first day when the car had to be towed several times.

The first car to reach the other team's campus will be the winner.

Purpose of the transcontinental race is to promote the use of smog-free electric motors in vehicles.

Freight Train Cars Strew Tunnel After Derailment

HELPER, Utah (AP)—Damage was estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars yesterday after 57 cars, including one diesel, of a Denver and Rio Grande Western freight train derailed at Nolan Tunnel 10 miles west of Helper.

Four crewmen, all from Salt Lake City, escaped injury. Officials said cause of the accident was not known but an investigation has been launched to uncover clues.

The westbound tracks soon were cleared and traffic is being routed over them to avoid delay, a railroad spokesman said.

The California Zephyr passenger train headed from Salt Lake City to Denver was delayed about 20 minutes.

The derailed train contained 64 cars, a caboose and the four diesel units. The caboose, eight cars immediately ahead of it, and three diesel units were all that remained on the tracks.

Turk City Tense At Navy Visit

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — Riot police patrolled the streets in this Aegean port city today as six units of the U.S. 6th fleet arrived for a friendly visit. No violence was reported, but the atmosphere was tense.

Turkey's Marxist Labor party, leftist students and youth organizations have called for "passive resistence" to the visit.

Anti-American demonstrations and violence flared in Istanbul during a similar visit of the 6th fleet last month. More than 20 U.S. sailors were injured.

Colorado also is known as the Centennial State.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Private Physicians Report Rise In Venereal Disease Cases

VAN DELLEN

Several private physicians report an increase in venereal diseases such as syphilis and gonorrhea among young adults. Perhaps these new cases are a sign that those in the higher strata are becoming more promiscuous. Fortunately, many get adequate therapy at the outset.

Syphilis, a more generalized disease, is capable of killing when the victim does not receive proper treatment.

It is unfortunate that the blood test is not positive for several weeks after exposure. The initial lesion (chancre) is noticed earlier in the male, but may go unrecognized in the female.

IDEALLY the test (not yet available) would demonstrate a positive result within hours. It is important that every person know enough about VD to be examined when there is the slightest reason to suspect exposure.

Gonorrhea presents a different situation. The causative organism is in a class with streptococci and staphylococci, but is transmitted via the venereal route. It responds to penicillin although there is growing evidence of drug-resistance to the antibiotic.

In all probability, women may be the gonorrheal reservoirs, especially when the disease does not cause a significant discharge. Males experience more distressing symptoms that usually send them to the physician at the first sign of trouble.

THE INCUBATION period of each condition varies. A gonorrheal discharge appears within two to eight days of exposure; the syphilitic chancre, within three weeks.

What happens when both are contracted simultaneously? After the initial diagnosis of gonorrhea, the medico gives the victim a massive dose of penicillin.

This usually eliminates the discharge and may eradicate the slowly growing syphilis organisms.

Massive dosage may cure both diseases at this stage. But this cannot be proved, so blood tests for syphilis are done at monthly intervals, for three months.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

COFFEE GROUNDS

A reader wrties: I've been eating uncooked coffee grounds for 30 years without ill effects but my husband keeps nagging me about it. Do you think this practice is harmful?

REPLY

If the habit has not been harmful before now, I doubt that it will be in the future. Changes in health in the years to come may make it necessary to drop this habit.

VITAMINS FOR SPINSTER

L. M. G. writes: Can you recommend a vitamin for a spinster nearing the age of 67? I am in relatively good health.

REPLY

Many pharmaceutical companies manufacture a multiple vitamin-mineral product. A daily capsule may not be necessary but it may help if a dietary deficiency exists.

GIVING CHILD CANDY

REPLY

Candy is not harmful provided it does not affect appetite or promote dental decay. The latter is a problem, especially among caries-prone children.

NEARSIGHTED

B. V. writes: What symptoms are caused by myopia?

REPLY

Signs along the highway and distant hills and buildings look fuzzy. Near vision usually is good.

Psychologists Turn Swank Hotel Into An Experiment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A convention of psychologists yesterday played with children's blocks and paints, quizzed a polygamous housewife and snake-walked with eyes shut through the swank Fairmont Hotel lobby.

It was a meeting of the American Association for Humanistic Psychology, attended by 1,200, concerned with ways man might realize his potential.

About 150 basic methods, drawn from all religions and sciences, have been identified in a survey now in progress, the delegates were told by a consultant to the Stanford Research Institute, Severin Peterson.

The eyes-shut snake walk, which brought bell boys and waiters to astonished and abrupt halts, erupted from a session devoted to developing self-awareness through physical movement.

In a group interested in "becoming more alive through play," some distinguished psychologists were encouraged by Marian Saltman of Sausalito, to try out various toys.

One scholar bounced up and down on a huge inner tube, some others constructed a tower of blocks topped by a female delegate which collapsed and a few messed around with clay.

"Another man pounded the table, making my clay tree droop," said one social scientist. "I felt like slapping his face."

As some adults dressed up with a stack of old clothes, Miss Saltman explained the exercise was intended to aid rediscovery of the child's spontaneous creativity. "Too many of us play tennis compulsively—we don't know how to have fun anymore," she said.

Other conventioneers, seeking ways to "actualize" human potential in marriage, considered the possibility of creating new forms of the institution such as "extended families," "family networks" and "tribal structures."

"I believe we are ready for a dialogue in this area," said Herbert Otto of the Stone Foundation, Chicago.

A young San Francisco housewife told an audience of 500 of life in her household of two men, two women and two children. One is her legal husband of seven years.

She said family decisions grow out of long, probing discussions. "We never find it necessary to put our problems to a vote."

The children call each adult by their first name and treat each as a parent, she said. "They recognize the resources in each person in the family."

11 Men Inducted In Military This Month

Marin's Selective Service Board reported 11 men were inducted into the armed forces this month.

They are Scott C. Robbins and Robert W. Gilliam, both of San Rafael; Kenneth M. Giakovmis and Dennis A. Thran, both of Mill Valley; Donald B. Forsyth, Benicia; Robert J. Sciaroni, Kentfield; Earle S. Robinson, San Anselmo; George C. Perry, Petaluma; Brian L. Swanson, Novato; James M. Quigley, Fort Baker; and Rory M. Riley, Point Reyes.

The board's quota for the month had been 19, reported Mrs. Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary of Local Board No. 25, but it is seldom reached because of deferments and enlistments among those scheduled for induction.

The September quota is 16, Mrs. Kinzer reported.

TV REVIEW

A Chilling Story Unfolds In Chicago

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the three networks showed a horror film last night while the other two were concentrating on the Democratic National Convention and the attending violence in the streets of Chicago.

It is a sad commentary on the appalling events in and around the convention amphitheater that "The Gorilla Man" was less shocking than the nomination of a man to run for the presidency of the United States.

HAVE EXCUSE

The poor beasts of science-fiction have an excuse—the scriptwriters make them what they are. But what excuse have the politicians who lost with such bad grace, the police who overreacted to provocation from the Yippies and all others responsible for scenes that can do the image of America only harm at home and abroad?

ABC-TV put on the horror film as part of its decision to carry standard programming as well as convention coverage. CBS-TV and NBC-TV turned their cameras and reporters on the convention and the streets of the city for more than 12 hours. And a far more chilling tale they had to tell.

OVERWROUGHT

As television it made absorbing viewing. As an example of the democratic process it fell somewhere between farce and tragedy.

One woman delegate broke down sobbing when the convention adopted a Vietnam plank which did not call for an immediate halt to the bombing as supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy had urged. The New York delegation rendered an emotional version of "We Shall Overcome" and were joined by hundreds of others.

The majority had spoken but the minority clearly hadn't accepted it and all through the day network reporters picked up moves and rumors of moves to adjourn the convention and force its transfer to another city because of what was frequently called "police brutality" in the streets. Since more than 10 policemen were injured there must have been some "Yippie brutality" around as well and NBC caught one of the demonstrators in the act of throwing a punch at a policeman.

THE IMPRESSIONS

But the enduring impression was of helmeted police dragging demonstrators to police trucks sometimes spurring them with a club across the backside. The networks filmed these under difficulties mindful that a record number of cameramen and reporters of all media have been involved in incidents with police.

There is bound to be discussion in the weeks to come of how much of what happened was due to the presence of television.

All the anchor men made sharp comments on the proceedings. Walter Cronkite of CBS pointed out the telephone strike, which prevented the networks from covering the headquarters of the various presidential candidates, was settled only an hour after adoption of the platform made it certain nothing could stop Hubert Humphrey's nomination last night.

"A really quite amazing coincidence", said Cronkite dryly.

Lucy Puts Her Two Children Under Contract

Lucie, 17, and Desi Arnaz IV, 15, have signed contracts with Lucille Ball Productions to appear in her new television series, "Here's Lucy."

The contracts became official when Judge Robert A. Wenke approved them in Superior Court yesterday.

Miss Ball's children will be paid $17,600 each the first year, $20,400 the second and $25,200 the third. Twenty per cent must be invested in government bonds to be held for the children until they are 21.

Goldberg Hits Anti-Semitism

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, has denounced Polish and East German charges that Zionists promoted the Czechoslovak reform movement.

The former Supreme Court Justice spoke with newsmen Tuesday after the announcement of his election as president of the American Jewish Committee, which was founded in 1906 to protect the rights of Jews.

Referring to the Zionist allegations, Goldberg said:

"To revive in Eastern Europe anti-Semitism — and that has been going on for a long time now — is a shameless act, one that carries the portent of great danger."

Flood Control Board Sets Special Meet

A special meeting of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Advisory Board has been called for 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Larkspur City Council Chamber.

The board will discuss a $100,000 change order requested at the Woodland Avenue intersection by contractor Elmer Freechy and problems with Bon Air Bridge.

Giants Battle Time In Pursuit Of Impossible Dream

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Giants are coming but whether they will have time to make a race of it remains to be seen.

San Francisco has seven games left to play with the St. Louis Cardinals, who lead the National League pack by 11 games, and they should decide where the Giants finish this year—first, second or third.

The Giants won their seventh game of their last eight and their 15th in the last 19 yesterday, thanks to a bases loaded walk in the ninth by Houston Astros reliever John Buzhardt. The score was 4-3.

Herman Franks, who rarely talks to newsmen these days, was ready to buttonhole every writer who stepped into the San Francisco clubhouse after the game. His lack of communication with media men has nothing to do with his lame duck status as Giants skipper.

"What do you think of the team now?" he asked.

Queried as to his thoughts, he answered by saying he wished the 1968 season had seven more weeks to go instead of four.

In any event, the Giants are tearing a page out of their 1951 miracle script these days, winning games in much the same manner they did that historic year when they charged from 13 1-2 games back on Aug. 12 to tie the Dodgers for first on the final day of the season, then beat their hated rivals in a dramatic playoff featuring Bobby Thomson's homer in the ninth inning of the final game.

Wes Westrum, Larry Jansen and Willie Mays were all part of that 1951 club but none cares to talk about the club's chances this time, mostly for fear of jinxing themselves. Westrum and Jansen are coaches now but were key figures, along with the rookie Mays, in the 1951 drive down the stretch.

The Giants fell behind 3-0 to the Astros yesterday by the third inning when Ray Sadecki lost contact with the plate. The curveballing lefthander, who was popping over his favorite pitch in the first two innings, couldn't get close in the third and as a result walked in Houston's first run and wild pitched across the other two.

The Giants, meanwhile, were being mowed down methodically by Astros starter Mike Cuellar until they finally broke through in the fifth on a single by Dick Dietz, a surprise double by Hal Lanier and a scratch infield hit by the pinch-hitting Jim Davenport.

Willie McCovey's 31st homer, a towering 400-foot belt that cleared the rightfield fence by 30 feet, cut the lead to 3-2 in the sixth and the Giants tied it in the eighth on an infield single by Bobby Bonds, who moved up on Ron Hunt's sacrifice and Steve Shea's wild pitch, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Willie Mays.

That set the stage for the ninth inning, which Jim Hart initiated with an infield hit. Hart, hurting all over from various injuries, hustled to second as Jay Alou bounced out, pitcher to first. Buzhardt, the third Houston pitcher, then walked Dietz intentionally to set up a possible double play. It went down the drain, though, as he walked pinchhitter Ty Cline unintentionally to load the bases.

Buzhardt got off the hook momentarily as Bobby Schroeder forced Hart at the plate, but he went to a 3-2 count on Bonds and then walked him to force in the winning run.

The Giants played the Astros again today with Juan Marichal shooting for his 24th victory against Dave Giusti, then tangle with the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers during the weekend before taking off on what could be their fateful road trip. They play four games against the Cubs in Chicago and three against the Cards in St. Louis.

Notes From Sunday's Crowded Dipsea Race

DIPSEA DOODLES — Professional basketball is a fast and rugged sport, but I know one National Basketball Association star who wants no part of the 6.8-mile, Mill Valley-to-Stinson Beach Dipsea Race.

He is Clyde Lee of the San Francisco Warriors who was at Stinson Beach Sunday to distribute trophies to the Dipsea winners. Drawled Clyde: "I've always loved track, but I've never had the intestinal fortitude to run a race like THIS."

Dipsea winner Donald S. Pickett's 12-year-old son Tom ran the Dipsea then hustled off to Kentfield where he swam for the Tiburon Peninsula Swim Club. "I hope he doesn't wear himself out," said the worried father.

Year After Year Improvement

Pickett, incidentally, is coordinator of the San Francisco Olympic Club's cross-country running team. A native of Salem, Ore. and graduate of Universty of Oregon, he has run the Dipsea four times and has improved with leaps and bounds. In his first try he finished 70th, then 41st, then 25th and finally first. At 40, he is an inspiration to the rest of us senior citizens.

Runner-up Michael Brian Wolford of Oakhurst, Madera County, celebrated his 11th birthday on Aug. 21. His father Monte, a stonemason, finished 72nd and his two brothers, Mark, 13, and Monte Jr., also ran.

Mike Wolford, like third place finisher Jack Kirk, the 63-year-old defending champion, is a vegetarian Look, Ma, a meatless track meet!

Kirk is the "daddy" of the Dipsea. He has run the classic every time since 1928 — 35 times — and has won it in 1951 and 1967.

Past Winners Accounted For

Among spectators at the finish was Dr. Robert Furlong of San Rafael, perhaps the most authoratative Dipsean of them all. Dr. Furlong placed 15th in the 1906 Dipsea and has witnessed all 58 races.

Other Dipsea Dignitaries present were Mason Hartwell, the 1917 winner; O. R. W. Johnson, who ran it 18 times between 1911 and 1949; and Carl Jensen of Novato, who was badly wounded in Vietnam four months after he won the Dipsea in 1966.

John Boitano, whose five-year-old daughter Mary Etta won the hearts of the crowd by being the first "woman" to finish, says running is his family's favorite pasttime. "We belong to a jogging club and run five miles every Wednesday night," he said. Asked about the Dipsea strain on his five-year-old daughter and six-year-old son, Boitano smiled: "Our pediatrician loves it."

Okay, just don't sit there. Get out and run.

Just Missed That Record

The most incredible athletic performance of the day belonged to a 21-year-old San Jose State senior trackman named Byron Lowry who missed by 29 seconds breaking the course record of 47:22 set in 1937 by Norman Bright.

His 47:51 clocking was fantastic because he had to fight his way through a record field of more than 800 runners and got lost momentarily early in the race. Some of the scratch runners were delayed several minutes at the foot of the 440-step stairway in Mill Valley as the mass of humanity funneled up the stairway.

Confirming that old adage that you "Drive for show and putt for dough," Mrs. William May of Woodacre yesterday won the first Marin County Women's Golf Tournament of Champions at Indian Valley, Novato.

"My best game is around the greens and putting and that's how I played today," she explained after carving out a two-stroke victory over Mrs. Lawrence Gapinski of the San Geronimo National Club, 82 to 84.

IN THIRD

Third place in the fireld of six club titlists went to Mrs. Gordon Davenport of the Marin Country Club at 85. Then came Mrs. Harold Baer of San Rafael's Peacock Gap at 87, Mrs. John Weitzel of the Meadow Club, Fairfax, at 91 and Mrs. Don Roberts of Mill Valley at 94.

The 53-year-old Virginia May, representing the host Indian Valley club where she has ruled as champion for nine out of the past ten years, edged out the 42-year-old Nancy Gapinski in a stirring finish to win the Independent-Journal perpetual trophy.

Virginia and Nancy were tied going into the par 3, 145-yard 17th hole where Nan met her Waterloo. Her tee shot found a sandtrap and she took a double-bogey five to Virginia's par three which proved the two-stroke difference in the final score.

THE BATTLE

The Mesdames May and Gapinski waged a heated battle all the way and were tied at 44-all after nine holes. Nancy made a charge early along the backstretch and held a two-stroke advantage after 15 holes. But, with her short iron game and putter pulling her out of the fire, Mrs. May birdied the par 5, 450-yard 16th hole after Mrs. Gapinski, playing in the first threesome, took a bogey to fall back into a tie. Then came the deciding 17th hole.

The blonde Arloine Davenport, 47-year-old mother of five and grandmother of one, was very much in contention after she birdied the 13th hole with the only deuce of the day. But Mrs. Davenport skied to four over par figures on the next three holes to drop out of contention.

BOGEYS

Marion "Cookie" Baer, 44, who holds championships at Lincoln, Harding Park and Peacock Gap, trailed the leaders by only one stroke at the turn, but bogeyed the 12th to lose her bid.

Mrs. Weitzel, 49-year-old grandmother, was a last-minute substitute for Meadow Club champion Mrs. John Cann who is away on vacation.

Mrs. Harold Burnell was tournament chairman and presented awards to the six participants at a post-match luncheon.

VICTORY IN BOSTON

A's Look Higher Than Fifth Place

BOSTON (AP) — The Oakland Athletics have a chance to finish in the first division for the first time since the early 1950s, but don't get the idea they're satisfied.

"We're not happy we're fifth —we're disappointed we're not higher," Outfielder Mike Hershberger said last night after belting the eighth inning tie-breaking home run that led to a 5-3 victory over Boston.

SHOT AT THIRD

"We still have a good shot at third place this season, and next year we have to the one of the top contenders," he added.

Hershberger knows what it's like to play for a winner—he was on two straight second place Chicago White Sox teams in 1963 and 1964 before being obtained by the Athletics. But for the past three years in Kansas City he and his teammates toiled in the depths of the second division.

"You can't imagine the difference it makes," he said. "Everyone on this club has a different feeling this year. We know we can win now — and really, with a few breaks we could be higher than we are."

The 28-year-old outfielder, a virtual graybeard on this team of youngsters, feels the club can't miss being up there for many years.

"These young guys realize now that they can win, and they know they've got a chance to take it all next year," he said. "I honestly don't believe there is anyone better than us in the league—and I include Detroit and Baltimore."

"We had a pretty good club last year, and we weren't that far down until things went so bad at the end and we finished something like 8-32," he said. "Even last winter I was telling people we'd be in the first division this year."

PLUS FACTORS

Hershberger and rookie manager Bob Kennedy both pointed to the strong young pitching staff, the fine-all-around play of shortstop Bert Campaneris, and the arrival of such young players as Rick Monday, Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando as the reasons for the year's success and the nucleus of next year's even higher hopes.

"This club also has real good

U.S. To Have A Very Fast Girls Swim Team In Mexico

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mexico City can count on a pair of River Rats causing plenty of excitement in October when the fastest U.S. women's swimming team in history competes in the 1968 Olympic Games.

RIVER RATS

"Our real school nickname is the Panthers, but everybody calls us the River Rats," laughed slim and pretty Debbie, who raced to her third world record of the women's Olympic trials yesterday.

The 16-year-old not only smashed her own world record once, she did it twice, winning the finals in 9 minutes 10.4 seconds, a full 12 seconds under her official world mark.

Patty Caretto of Long Beach, Calif., was second in 9:18.5 and Pam Kruse, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., third, 9:20.8.

In qualifying, Debbie had half mile, final event on the clocked 9:16.4 for the metric five-day program. The 5-foot-7, 118-pound blue-eyed blonde previously had established the world's best of 2:06.7 in the 200 freestyle and 4:24.6 in the 400.

All in all, the amazing teen-agers smashed seven world records of the 12 Olympic events on the program. The American record fell plus one American citizens mark.

Sherman Chavoor of Arden Hills, near Sacramento, home pool for Debbie and Sue, will coach the girls in Mexico City and feels few if any of the aquatic stars has reached a peak.

"The times probably won't be as good above 100 meters because of the altitude," he said, "but that will be the same for all."

Consistent Hitter, That Danny Cater

OAKLAND — Danny Cater, first baseman with the Finley fellows, won't win the American League batting title this season. But for a time, he had a chance—and he finds that fact highly amusing.

Cater is the solid and, at 28, old pro of the A's. He assumed earlier in the year that he was getting so venerable in Athletic thinking that he'd play very little. The way it's turned out, Danny has missed only a dozen games.

Never hire Danny Cater to read your tea leaves.

At spring training, A's manager Bob Kennedy said there would be no platooning (a thought he's since dissipated in the grueling battle for a fifth place). So Cater had to presume he could apply for Social Security and wait to be grabbed by an expansion club.

YET, THERE WAS that gnawing feeling (and not so bad .270 batting average in '67) that told Danny he might play someplace someday soon. "Although," he smiles, "I had no idea where."

HE WAS DOING everything expected of a batter—especially moving the runner along. In a pack of wrong field-hitting A's Cater has been the best. He hits so often to right field, in fact, some clubs play him like a left-handed pull hitter.

Cater brings the intangible of moxie to a club so young it can't endorse razor blades because it doesn't use them. He's played for three big league teams, starting with the Phillies in 1964.

THAT WAS a good year to learn about the pressures of major league baseball. It was in the final two weeks of the '64 season the Philadelphia Nationals blew a lead, and a pennant, your neighborhood Little Leaguers would have a hard time kicking away.

"Didn't bother me too much, though," says Dan, who seems not to be bothered by anything. "I thought I had to prove myself and spend most of my time worrying more about that than any pennant pressure."

THE PROOF WAS in the hitting. Cater went .296 in 60 games for the trembling Phils that year.

Then came a full season in '65 with the White Sox (.270) and a split year with Chicago and K.C. (.278).

There's no question that a fellow who hits with that consistency has a chance to be among the league's batting leaders in these days of peerless A. L. pitching, and this year Danny has been on the fringe of the Top Ten.

"FOR A TIME there, when I was hitting over .285 and the leader was under .300, I really thought I might be able to win it," says Danny of his early August hopes.

"But then I started worrying a little bit if I didn't get a hit in my first couple of times up."

Still, the hits are dropping in for the young old pro. Even if he goes in the October expansion draft, Seattle or the new K.C. will have room someplace for a regular named Cater.

Gibson Blanks Bucs For Bit Of Revenge

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson is not the type of guy to hold a grudge, but you'd never know it the way he treated the Pittsburgh Pirates only four days after they turned on him.

Pittsburgh, after scoring only one run in two losses to Gibson, ruined his 15-game winning streak last Saturday by scoring two unearned runs in the ninth inning.

The fireballing St. Louis Cardinals right-hander didn't forget that disappointment, about the only one he has had in a sensational season. Last night, he got his revenge.

Gibson made the Pirates his 11th shutout victim this season by cutting them down on four hits and striking out 14 as the Cardinals romped to an 8-0 victory.

His latest sparkler, raising his record to 19-6, also put Gibson back on the road toward the Cy Young Award and ended the Cardinals' brief spin en route to their second consecutive pennant.

The Cardinals' distance from the rest of the league stood at 11 games over Cincinnati and San Francisco after the Reds swept the New York Mets 8-3 and 5-2 in a twi-night doubleheader and the Giants nudged Houston 4-3 in the afternoon.

Atlanta won a twi-nighter from Philadelphia 9-2 and 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-4 before losing 8-4 in another twi-night twinbill.

OUTSTANDING

Gibson, so outstanding that he is making his 20 and 21-victory years of 1965 and 1966 look like bad seasons, was the master again as the Pirates bowed to him. They never got a runner past second base. He issued two of his three walks to open the fifth, but then struck out the side.

The shut out gave him the St. Louis club record for shutouts breaking Mort Cooper's mark of 10 in one season.

Gibson also capped a five-run fourth inning with a two-run single. Orlando Cepeda hammered his 14th homer for the first three runs off Bob Veale, 10-13. Cepeda singled in another run in the sixth and Julian Javier stroked his second homer in the eighth as the Cardinals came to life after two straight shutout losses.

Cincinnati moved one percentage point ahead of the Giants as Gerry Arrigo scattered eight hits behind a 15-hit attack in the opener and Gary Nolan cracked a two-run double and teamed with Clay Carroll on a five-hitter in the nightcap.

UPRISING

Don Cardwell had retired the first 13 Reds in the second game and led 1-0 before Nolan capped a three-run uprising in the fifth inning with his double. He gave up only three hits before leaving in the eighth, leaving Carroll to protect his seventh consecutive victory over the Mets.

Atlanta unloaded 19 hits against the Phillies in their opener, including three each by Felipe Alou and Hank Aaron, a homer and a single by Deron Johnson and winner George Stone's two run-scoring singles.

Aaron, playing first base in the nightcap for the first time in his major league career, hit his 25th homer for a 1-1 tie and then Johnson singled in Alou with the winning run in the eighth inning. Pat Jarvis, 14-9, got the victory with a three-hitter.

Ernie Banks keyed a six-run Cubs' uprising in the first inning of the first game with a two-run single, but the Dodgers scored six runs of their own in the eighth inning of the nightcap to overcome a 4-2 deficit. Ken Boyer struck the big blow, a pinch three-run double for a 6-4 lead.

Tigers' Denny McLain Wins No. 26 At Angels' Expense

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

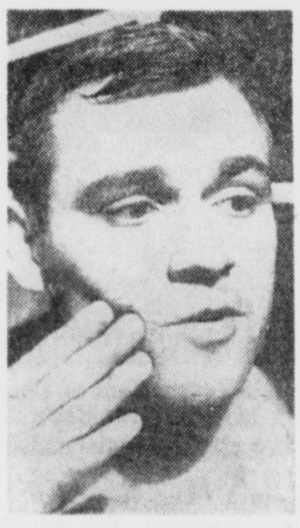
The Detroit Tiger righthander, fighting off a painfully sore shoulder, snapped his own two-game losing streak last night with a six-hit, 6-1 triumph over the California Angels.

Bothered by a strained muscle in his pitching arm for more than two weeks, McLain had suffered two successive setbacks and it seemed his 30-game season was in jeapordy. After notching his 25th victory on August 17 against Boston, McLain was bombed by the White Sox after getting only two days rest. He then dropped a 2-1 decision to New York on August 24.



DENNY McLAIN

277 INNINGS

McLain, who has already labored through 277 innings, the highest total among American League pitchers, is struggling to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean reached that plateau in 1934.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington nipped Baltimore 2-1, Cleveland edged Minnesota 3-2, Oakland downed Boston 5-3, and Chicago blanked New York 3-0.

McLain, who got home run support from Bill Freehan and Jim Northrup, became the first American League pitcher since 1946 to win 26 games. The last to accomplish the feat were Bob Feller and Hal Newhouser, both in 1946.

FANS 11

He struck out 11 and walked two and was in command all the way. Don Mincher spoiled his shutout bid with a leadoff homer in the fourth inning, his 13th of the season.

The Tigers, who had lost four of their last five games, got to Angel starter George Burgmeier in the second innings. Willie Horton singled and Freehan clubbed his 20th homer of the year off the facade of the second deck in left field to give McLain all the support he needed. Northrup slammed his 17th homer of the season in the eighth to seal the victory for the Tiger ace.

HOWARD HOMERS

The Orioles lost a full game to Detroit when Frank Howard hit his 37th homer with a man aboard in the fifth inning. Jim Hannon picked up his eighth win, but needed ninth inning relief help from Dennis Higgins. Larry Haney tripled home Dave Johnson in the second inning to give the Orioles a 1-0 lead. The Birds added another run in the eighth when Frank Robinson doubled and scored on a single by Boog Powell.

Jose Cardenal, who had two run-scoring singles and Vicente Romo teamed to break Cleveland's three-game losing streak. Romo relieved starter Luis Tiant, who left the game in the sixth inning when he complained of a strain in his elbow.

Rookie lefthander Gerry Nyman set down the Yankees on four hits in his first major league start. Nyman, obtained from Hawaii last week, walked three and struck out five. Mel Stottlemyre suffered his 11th loss against 17 victories.

Grease Ball Causing Trouble For Umpire

A week ago Warren Giles said he would meet with his National League umpires and issue a statement in "four or five days" about the grease ball, successor to the spitball. Thus far, no statement has been made and seven days have passed.

The new hangup resulted when Chris Pelekoudas accused Phil Regan on several occasions last week of throwing illegal pitches. Pelekoudas said he didn't find any foreign substance on the ball but was convinced the Cub relief pitcher was applying a lubricant because of the flight of the ball.

REGAN AND LEO Durocher, accompanied by Cub general manager John Holland, appealed for and got a hearing before Giles who was so impressed by Regan's presentation of his own case that Giles absolved him of any wrong doing.

"Phil told me he did not have any lubricant on his sweatband in this incident and I believe him," said the president of the National League.

So where did this leave Pelekoudas? It left him looking like a conscientious umpire without backing from his boss. Pelekoudas, like other umpires, will tell you: "A legal sinker spins when it breaks down. An illegal pitch breaks down without spin."

ONCE BEFORE the National League president and his umpires had a grave misunderstanding. In 1963 when the one-second stop was written into the balk rule, National League umpires honestly tried to enforce it.

The one-second rule, advocated by the Dodgers, was intended to give flyers like Maury Wills every advantage in base thievery. It stopped the quick pitch and snap pickoff.

IT ALMOST RUINED baseball, too. National League umpires called a record 96 balks to only eight in the American League during the first two months of the 1963 season. The American League didn't have any base flyers like Wills so it wasn't unduly concerned with the new rule.

Finally, Giles ordered a stop to the rash of balk calls by his umpires and put through a rules change. Al Barlick, dean of the National League umpires, suddenly quit. On June 16, 1963, he called Fred Fleig who handles umpiring assignments for Giles and said: "I'm fed up with the whole thing and am going to quit and go home." And he did.

FOUR DAYS later Barlick was persuaded to return and Giles said: "Al Barlick is a good umpire and a fine person."

There was no trouble over the balk.

The breach between Giles and Pelekoudas hasn't widened to the proportions of the 1963 alienation between Giles and Barlick but once again it has resulted in an awkward relationship between the National League president and his umpires.

"THEY KEEP talking about the spitball nowadays, the way the pitchers are getting away with it, and the way the umpires don't call it," says Conlan in his autobiography, "Jocko."

"The spitball is a false issue. It doesn't exist. I umpired in the National League from 1941 to 1965 and I saw a spitball thrown exactly once. A spitball is a fast pitch. You've got to have speed to throw one."

Bonallack In Amateur Golf Lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The way the world's best play-for-fun golfers are doing, the tough Scioto Country Club course may be the winner of the 68th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Not one of the starting field of 150 amateurs managed to break par in yesterday's first round over the 6,762-yard, par-70 Scioto layout which Jack Nicklaus calls home.

The best any of them could do was one-over-par 71, turned in by British Amateur champion Mike Bonallack, and a couple of slick contenders from Florida, Jack Veghte and Allen Miller.

They held a one-stroke lead over Lew Oehmig of Chattanooga, Tenn., Dick Sideerowf of Westport, Conn., Hubert Green of Birmingham, Ala., James Conace of Worthington, Ohio, and 49-year-old Dale Morey of High Point, N.C.

Veghte, a 33-year-old bank director from Clearwater, Fla., was four-under-par after 12 holes, but the pressure got to him. He took a double bogey on the 13th and bogeys on the 15th, 16 and 18th holes tolose five strokes on the final six.

Bonallack, bidding to become the fifth golfer to score the "little slam" by winning the British and American titles in the same year, also had troubles on the back nine.

Miller, a baby-faced University of Georgia junior, had his 71 in a different way, using his putter for 17 pars. His only bogey was on the seventh, where his tee shot landed in the rough and he missed a three-foot putt that would have saved his par.

Salmon Pack Changes Locations; A Gala Day For Rockfish Angling

The salmon pack seems to change address frequently. A few days ago it was a hot time near Buoy 1 and the Light ship. Monday it was hot off Muir Beach—and it was really hot. Limit catches were the rule rather than the exception.

STEVENS

For example: The boat Sunfish, working through the Lee Anderson Boat, bait and tackle headquarters, reported all boats out had limits or very close to limits for all rods. The Sunfish had 21 Limits to 26 pounds; the Sea Horse boated 42 salmon to 30 pounds; the Miss Dragnet took 25 limits, and the Wilma H. had 10 limits to 23 pounds.

Bete Urbais reported some fantastic luck for most boats out of the Urbais headquarters in Sausalito on Monday and over the weekend. Top rod was held by Lewis Ahlwardt aboard the Blue Fin, a beautiful 35-pound chinook salmon.

AS USUAL, the big rockfishing boat out of the Urbais spot, the well known Blue Horizon, had a gala day fishing for deep sea rockfish near the north Farallon Island — 27 legal limits of assorted fish with 25 nice ling cod to 30 pounds.

The late evening trolling — mostly above the Carquinez Bridge, Port Costa and the moth ball fleet — has been never less than fair, and some evenings quite productive. Bait Fishing for flounders pays off and several private boats out of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor have done quite well on stripers and sturgeon. Most Sturgeon being taken upstream from the Sugar Wharf at Crockett; ditto the bass.

A SAD TALE of deer in the Black Mountain area was related by Thomas Davis of Hayward. Seems that Tom and his group spent three zero days without a single deer downed or even sighted.

Said hunter Daivs: "We visited about 25 camps. The loggers all agreed that no deer had been seen, yet, 10 miles from the Refuge we saw whole herds of deer."

"DOVE SEASON opens Sunday with good prospects or even excellent in the southern areas and uncertain in northern California," reports the Resources Agency of California in a late release.

The 39-day split season continues through Monday, Sept. 30, then reopens Nov. 30 through Dec. 8. Bag limit is 10 birds, with 20 allowed in possession after opening day.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Graham Hopes To Use Jurgensen Against Lions

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Otto Graham hopes quarterback Sonny Jurgensen can play at least a quarter tonight, and the Redskins might need him against a Detroit Lions' defense that seems bent on wiping out the running game.

The National Football League contest at Washington launches a 12-game preseason schedule, which will be highlighted by a nationally televised NFL game between Minnesota and St. Louis Sunday night and climaxed Monday when NFL Philadelphia plays Boston of the American Football League.

Jurgensen, recuperating from surgery on the elbow of his throwing arm last May, has not played any this summer.

"I am not saying he definitely will play," Graham said yesterday, "but I would like to use him if he is up to it. Maybe for a quarter or so."

Even though he is not in top form, the appearance of a passer of Jurgensen's ability could spark a punchless Washington attack which has seen kicker Charlie Gogolak account for 27 of 45 point in four games, three of which the Redskins lost.

The Detroit defensive line has yielded just six first down and an average of 58 yards rushing in three games, two of them Lion victories.

The Lions held NFL Baltimore to 28 yards on 21 carries and no first downs by rushing in a 14-7 victory last week.

But the Detroit defense wasn't the only thing impressive in the victory over Baltimore. Quarterback Bill Munson put on quite a show also.

Munson, the ex-Los Angeles Ram who will start tonight, completed 19 of 22 passes, the last 12 in a row, for 178 yards against Baltimore in making his first start since recovering from leg surgery.

Backs Billy Johnson and Bob Cappadonna were recalled by Boston which then sent Cappadonna to Buffalo for an undisclosed draft choice.

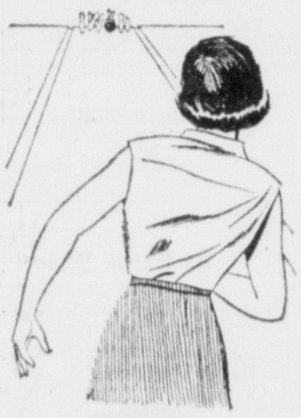
BOWLING TIPS

BY MARION LADEWIG



Ecess speed when you throw the ball is harmful, for it prevents the ball from rolling and instead the ball skids into the pins. Splits frequently result. Unnecessary speed will usually cut down a bowler's accuracy as well. In an effort to race to the foul line, she loses the fine touch needed in a precise sport such as bowling.

Raiders Finally Name Players Who Were Cut

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders have finally named their most recent cuts.

Given their walking papers last Monday were tight end Ken Herock and running back Preston Ridlehuber. Both were claimed by Boston.

General manager Al Davis admits that he is in the mood to trade for a backup defensive lineman. The Raiders have four of the best in the starting posts but the injury to Tom Keating leaves them without any backup help.

Davis watched last weekend's San Francisco 49ers-Denver game in Colorado. He was not only looking over the Prospectors prior to Sunday's exhibition meeting, but also seeing if he could find somebody on the Denver squad worth trading for.

Belgians Won't Boycott Olympics

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Belgian Olympic Committee decided last night not to boycott the Olympics, although sympathizing with the Czech resistance.

The committee issued no statement after its meeting but close sources said it reasserted the principle that the Olympic Games should not serve to increase tension, but to bring closer the youth from all countries.

Plan Communications Attack To Weaken Declarer's Action

When you don't know what else to do, attack declarer's communications. Even if this doesn't defeat the contract it may give declarer a headache instead of a piece of cake.

DEFENSE VARIES

When today's hand was played in a team match, the contract and the first trick were the same at both tables. Then the defense varies.

At the first table East returned a diamond, hoping to set up a trump trick for his partner by forcing dummy to ruff. Declarer ruffed in dummy with the queen of spades, cashed the ace of trumps and the ace of hearts and then ruffed a heart.

South next led a trump to dummy's king, cashed the king of hearts and ruffed another heart. Declarer returned to dummy with the ace of clubs to discard the rest of his losers on dummy's good hearts.

RETURNS CLUB

South could still make the contract but the hand didn't virtually play itself, as it had at the first table. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps, cashed both top hearts and then led the jack of hearts. East casually followed suit with the nine of hearts, and South had to guess what to do.

MISSING HEART

The only missing heart was the queen. If East held it, South had to discard a loser; but if West held it, South had to ruff. On a good day South might have guessed right, but this was one of his bad days. South ruffed the third heart hoping that the queen would fall. Now it was impossible to bring in the hearts, and South was down two.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠—J 9 8 7 5 3
♥—7
♦—6 5 3 2
♣—4 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two no trump to show your weakness. You plan to raise the spades later, but your first duty is to deny high-card strength. You don't want your partner to try for a slam when your only high card is one jack.

Russian, Japanese To Trade Fish

TOKYO (UPI)—The Soviet Union and Japan will trade trout for goldfish. The Russians will airlift to Japan 200,000 fish eggs from Lake Baikal in Siberia this autumn under terms of a Japan-Soviet fishery agreement.

The eggs will be hatched in northern Japan, producing a troutlike fish called white fish (coregonus autumnalis migratorius). In return, Japan will give the Russians goldfish and nishikigoi (a fancy carp).

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Aug. 29, the 242nd day of 1968 with 124 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1965 astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad landed safely to end the eight day orbital flight of Gemini 5.

A thought for the day: Wendell Holmes said: "Put not your trust in money, but put your money in trust."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

New Madera Pet Hospital Now Under Construction

Construction now underway at 5802 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, is for a new Madera Pet Hospital, expected to be completed by the first of the year.

This adjoins the present hospital at 5800 Paradise Drive and will be about three times as large, with 7,000 square feet. The old building has been there about 20 years and was remodeled 10 years ago.

The new building is being constructed by the William H. McDevitt Co. and will have all modern facilities, including plenty of offstreet parking. It probably will be one of the largest if not the largest pet hospital in the county. Madera Pet Hospital is owned by Dr. David C. Schwartz and Dr. C. J. Peetz. Associates are Dr. S. E. Sieber and Dr. G. D. Thye.

What will happen to the old building after the new one is complete is not known. Conceivably it could be remodeled for use by some other business, according to Dr. Schwartz.

A NEW STORE called the Knit Tree will open at 1601 Second Street, San Rafael, at Room 102B in this commercial complex, in about a week.

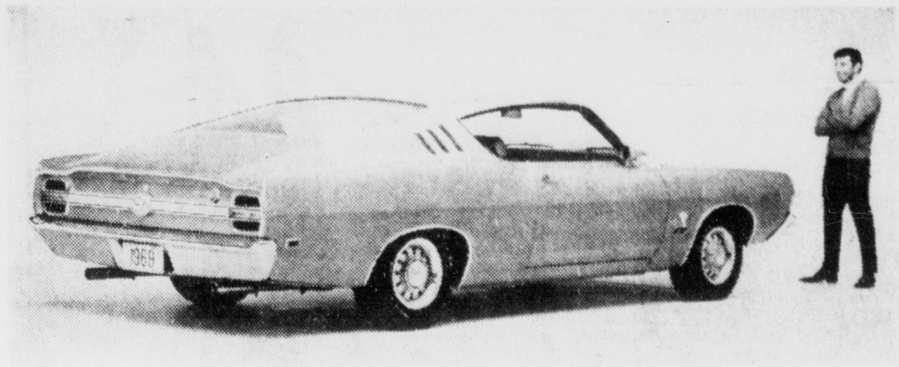
This is a fabrics store specializing in knit goods, franchised by a national chain with headquarters in Eugene, Ore. Local franchisee is Mrs. John Thomas Brown of San Rafael. She will have store hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. There will be one or two morning classes and one or two in the evening each week in the patented "Stretch and Sew" method of making garments from knit goods. Patterns, fabrics and book of instructions will be available.

GRETA C. WAGNER of Corte Madera is now the sole owner of the Magnolia Fabric Shoppe at 1125 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur. She has taken over the interest of her former partner, Ann Pirenian of Larkspur. They opened the shop more than two years ago. Hours will remain the same — from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

ALLEN ROSEN, who has operated Allen's Union Service at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, for the past two years, has sold out — but the name will linger on at another location.

He bought a larger station, Bay's Union 76 Service, at 250 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, from William H. Bay, who has moved south, and changed the name to preserve his own identification with the business.

Meanwhile, the new owner at Second and Lincoln, is Harold Reynolds Jr. of Novato. The San Rafael station will now be know as Ray's 76 Union Service. Reynolds is retired from the Air Force and recently returned from Vietnam.



ADDITION TO FAIRLANE LINE

Cobra is Ford's new "hot performance" addition to the 1969 Fairlane line in hardtop and fastback designs. It has a 335-horsepower, 428-cubic inch V-8 as the standard engine. New grilles distinguish the Fairlane, Torino and Cobra models.

The Fairlane line offers three sedans, five formal hardtops, two convertibles, three sports-roof models and three station wagons. Cars will be available at Ames Ford Sales, San Rafael; L. J. Dervin Ford Co., Novato; and J and B Ford Sales, Corte Madera on Sept. 26.

CHARLES E. WEST of Sausalito has been promoted to trust operations officer in the electronic data processing division at Bank of California's San Francisco head office. An employee of the bank since 1964, he was appointed project officer in 1966 in the standards and methods department. Since last year he has been in the corporate planning department and since last January, a planning officer.

KENNETH CORSIGLIA of Kentfield has been named one of seven regional "salesmen of the year" for Juillard-Alpha Liquor Co. He has been associated with the company for 12 years both in Marin and Sonoma counties.

Bank Of Marin Branch Approved

The California State Banking Department has granted permission to the Bank of Marin to establish a branch office in the vicinity of Bellam and Francisco boulevards in East San Rafael.

Bank vice president Burton R. Kirchner said approval still must be received from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. before the branch can be opened. He said no definite site has been selected for the bank.

Quiet Trade As Stocks Close Lower

The averages were down slightly and declines outnumbered advances from noon on. The market was mixed in early trading, but gains had a slight edge over losers at that time — an edge which disappeared as stocks refused to rally.

Blue chips and glamor stocks shared in the retreat. An outstanding exception was Control Data which was clobbered for more than a week but snapped back strongly yesterday, rising about 3 points as most-active stock. The stock met buying support around the 125 price level, as some analysts expected.

Schenley and Glen Alden, the prospective merger partners, also were higher, gaining fractions in heavy trading.

Among other volume leaders, however, Caterpillar dropped 2, Eastern Air Lines and Callahan Mining about a point each and Colt Industries preferred, which traded on a block of 29,900 shares, lost half a dozen points.

J. C. Penney was up more than 3 on news of its proposed 2-for-1 stock split and a boost in dividend.

Morris Plan To Acquire Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Preliminary agreement on the acquisition of Business Factors, Inc., San Jose, by the Morris Plan (holding) Co., San Francisco, has been announced by the firms.

Under terms of the agreement approved by directors of the two companies, Morris Plan would acquire all 68,000 outstanding shares of the factoring company at a price of $9.50 per share. Business Factors will become a division of the Morris Plan Co. of California, wholly owned subsidiary of the Morris Plan Holding Co.

Unemployed Getting Jobs, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 30,000 unemployed have been placed in jobs under the new concentrated employment program, the Labor Department reported yesterday.

Cities the program has been funded for include, Los Angeles, Oakland, and San Francisco.

Japan Airlines Gets New Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board granted Japan Air Lines a route between San Francisco and Mexico City yesterday.

The new authority is in addition to the route JAL now operates between Tokyo, Honolulu, San Francisco, New York and across the Atlantic to Europe and on to Japan.

The new authority is effective for three years. A spokesman for JAL said the new San Francisco-Mexico service would begin Sept. 12, in time to handle Orient traffic bound for the Olympic games.

Companies Plan Merger

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — A proposed plan to merge Yuba Industries, Inc., San Francisco, into Standard Prudential United Corp. of New York, has been approved by Standard's directors.

The present aggregate market value of Standard Prudential shares proposed to be issued in the merger is $7.5 million.

The cash paid for currently-owned Yuba shares amounted to $11 million, making the total consideration paid for all outstanding common and preferred Yuba shares in excess of $18 million.

Ampex To Seek Foreign Financing

REDWOOD CITY (BW) — Ampex Corp. will go to international capital markets in the near future, primarily to finance continued expansion abroad, company officers say.

Consistent with the president's foreign direct investment program, the company expects to offer $20 million of convertible guaranteed subordinated debentures abroad through an international investment banking group.

National Can Corp. To Get Hollister

CHICAGO (BW) — National Can Corp. has reported an agreement to acquire Hollister Canning Co. of Hollister for an undisclosed amount of Series A convertible preferred and common stock.

The agreement is to be submitted to National Can's board of directors for their approval.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

When Is Right Time To Buy New Issue?

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. When is it right to buy new issues? People seem to be doing it, as I hear many talking about their big profits. Yet a good friend has warned me against new issues. — F. J.

A. If no one ever bought new issues, our economy would be seriously hampered. When offered by established companies, they generally present no problem. But that's not the whole story.

New issues of stock in unseasoned situations have been flooding the market. They have caused your friend's warning because too often they are volatile and extremely risky.

If you, as an investor, can assume high risk, perhaps you should consider new issues as part of your overall investment plan, because, if properly judged at the outset, they may go to a quick premium and prove unusually profitable. They can also fizzle out and never make a comeback. Bear in mind that most people are not inclined to talk about their losses.

A sound, well-rendered opinion on a new issue coming from a reputable investment house should give you the facts needed for a decision. The offering will probably be presented in a prospectus. Read this carefully, checking reasons for the offering, standing of the officers expecting to run the company, product line, financial strength and future growth potential.

If the situation continues to look promising, I'd go on to check the company's trade position by talking with its competitors or the businessmen it buys from or sells to. These opinions may swing to one extreme or the other, but could give you some worthwhile facts.

You will finally have to form your own judgment on the situation. Try to do this objectively, with emphasis on the fundamentals, and disregard street talk that the issue will be a hot one or a swinger "like Xerox or Polaroid."

Finally, be prepared for possible failure in having your initial order executed. Demand is sometimes so heavy that eager buyers are turned away empty-handed.

Q. I work summers to help pay college tuition but have a small amount to invest. What low-priced, rapidly growing secure stock would you recommend? — R.W.

A. Yours is a tall order since those descriptive terms seldom apply to the same issue. One suggestion: U.S. Industries is lower-priced, aggressively expanding and as secure as this type of situation usually is. Through June of this year six companies with sales of over $100 million annually had been acquired.

Company operations are 50 per cent industrial products, 33 per cent consumer products and the remainder representing international distribution. Although future success depends primarily on USI's acquisition program, internal growth must also continue.

Election Won't Resolve The Issue Of Vietnam

So it'll be Humphrey vs. Nixon.

In doing so, however, they have virtually eliminated the issue that, more than any other, caused Lyndon Baines Johnson to abandon, as of next January, the presidency he had doubtless hoped to hold for another four years.

HAD EUGENE McCARTHY not launched his campaign on the issue of Vietnam — which remained its dominant and almost its sole issue right up to the nomination balloting in Chicago — the way most probably would never have been cleared for Hubert Humphrey to seek and win the nomination.

Yet American voters will have no way to express their feelings on that issue on a national scale in the November election. As far as Vietnam is concerned, differences between Nixon and Humphrey are merely technical.

'WAY BACK in March, 1954, Nixon, appearing before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, was asked whether he thought American ground troops should be committed in what was then Indochina if the French were unable to hold it. This was a few weeks before the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu by a Vietnamese force headed by Ho Chi Minh.

Nixon said the question was hypothetical, but that he would favor using American ground forces in Southeast Asia if necessary to keep that part of the world from falling under Communist control.

He was thus some years ahead of Lyndon B. Johnson, who committed the U.S. to a Southeast Asia ground war by expanding the cadre of "military advisers" sent by John F. Kennedy into a full-scale fighting army, and who last September told the National Legislative Conference at San Antonio, Tex.: "The key to all we have done is really our own security. . . . A Southeast Asia dominated by Communist power would bring a third world war much closer to terrible reality."

THE POLICIES President Johnson has followed in Vietnam have been warmly defended by Humphrey. On Tuesday of this week, he told the California delegation to the convention, "I did not come here to repudiate the President of the United States" on Vietnam.

As for Nixon, he has never abandoned the position that he hinted in 1954. Ten years later — in a speech at Grants Pass, Ore., on April 27, 1964 — he said: "Winning the fight for freedom in Vietnam is essential to the survival of all of Asia. The Communist Vietcong must be defeated." And on Aug. 1 of this year he declared: "The war must be ended. It must be ended honorably. . . Until it is ended — and in order to hasten a negotiated end — it must be waged more effectively."

THERE IS NO discernible difference between this position and that taken by Johnson and Humphrey.

So Vietnam, the issue which has divided the nation most deeply, will not be the issue in November's election. How Humphrey and Nixon propose to "force negotiations for peace" may become an issue. But Americans will have to choose their President on some other basis than whether he is willing to pull American troops out of Southeast Asia without a "victory."

Another Ambulance Delay

Persons injured on streets and highways in populous, modern, progressive(?) Marin should not have to lie in pain beside the street for long periods awaiting an ambulance, yet this continues to happen.

Less than a week ago, a 9-year-old Novato bicyclist was injured in collision with a car near his home. There was a 27-minute wait before an ambulance arrived from San Rafael.

It is high time the county board of supervisors and the various city councils acknowledged some responsibility for providing genuine emergency ambulance service.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

School Boards Now Propose Statewide Property Tax Levy

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan is being besieged with requests for special sessions of the Legislature.

They come on all types of subjects, and put together, these requests mirror somewhat the predictions of a few years ago that the Legislature eventually would be a full-time operation.

COMES NOW the California School Boards Association, an organization made up of representatives of school boards throughout the state, which maintains headquarters in Sacramento apparently for the purpose of fostering legislation to benefit schools of the state. The association has sent in a request to the governor for a special session to "help resolve the school finance crisis and to provide a constructive reorganization of the California tax structure."

Not only has the association requested the special session, but it has drafted a bill seeking revisions of the present method of funding the costs of California schools which costs take more out of the tax dollar than any other function of government.

This bill calls for a statewide property tax, which the association claims would equalize property tax burdens on all taxpayers, provide for a property tax rollback in high tax rate school districts, and provide a guaranteed educational program level for every California school child.

This program in effect would be an ad valorem tax, a procedure which has been shunned by the Legislature these many years in favor of sales, income and other taxes to raise revenue. To adopt a state-wide property tax at this stage of the game would be an admission that other taxes have failed to bring in enough money to meet the state's needs, and that the state is forced to pile another property tax on the already considerable levies by local governments.

THE ASSOCIATION seeks an increase in the present $271 state support to a level of $325 per child, and would finance this increase from "existing state reserve monies."

The big question is, supposing this program should happen to be successful, where would the additional support come from when the reserve money is gone?

There happens to be only one answer, and that is more taxes.

Studies are under way by the Reagan administration for a comprehensive tax overhaul in California, and a report is expected at the 1969 legislative session, so it is not likely that the governor or the Legislature would consider a state property tax at this point.

". . . so it appears Humphrey has it all tied up on the first ballot. Back to you, Chet and Dave!"

Czechs Could Turn From Communism

Though the Czechs in their plea for freedom and independence have not as yet called for the abolition of communism (an important fact about the possible compatibility between communism and democracy which few of us are aware of, and even less would care to admit) a continued Russian occupation of that country could conceivably turn them against communism. Just as the generally hated American presence in Vietnam has been the major force in the creation of communists among the South Vietnamese.

Discrimination Seen On Tiburon Council

I have been a resident and property owner in Tiburon several years. I was not for the incorporation and did not vote for it. However, as long as we have it, I would like to have it be successful.

As any citizen can and should, I attend the city council meetings. I do believe that as time goes on, the meetings go from bad to worse. Our present council is sad. We have two attorneys, a business executive, and airline employee and one business woman.

I have been puzzled at the attitude of the four councilmen and city manager toward our very capable councilwoman. After studying the faces of these several men for some time, I have come to the conclusion that the men resent the intelligence of our lone councilwoman. This makes for a sad council and discrimination is most obvious.

The discussions at the Aug. 26 Tiburon City Council meeting were particularly abusive to our lady member, who shows concern for our tax dollar. We taxpayers outside the council are also concerned and have been juggling with the new math. We note that our Tiburon city budget for 1968-1969 is supposed to be lower. However, the city tax rate is to be increased by 7 cents. How can we digest these figures and facts and come up with good business?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IT WAS A SWELTERING, 98-degree day in the Catskills, and Mrs. Bromberg was overcome by the heat. As she toppled off her chair on the veranda, several other guests rushed up to offer assistance, but her daughter ordered them back. "Mama will be all right in a minute," she assured them "Just open up her mink coat."

OVERHEARD:

At the Advertising Club: "How fast will that new car of yours go?" "About 500 billboards an hour."

At a golf club on Ladies Day: "Are you playing with a handicap?" "I'll say. My girdle is killing me!"

Get Business Into Act For Poverty War Gains

(Reprinted from Florida Times-Union, Jacksonville, Fla.)

Too often the end result of various federal antipoverty programs is to offer a fleeting sample of a better life, then cruelly collapse hope when the program's appropriation runs out.

Too often, poor planning and management have underscored the axiom that money doesn't buy happiness — when funneled into poorly conceived and or ineptly operated programs.

By striking contrast, certain soundly devised private projects in this same fight against poverty have shown extraordinary return, in human dividends, on quite limited investment.

AS A CASE in point, consider the Philadelphia pharmaceutical firm which decided to do something about its own back yard. The neighborhood surrounding Smith, Kline & Frenc rounding Smith, Kline & French was a once-affluent section of substantially constructed Victorian homes, now showing their near-century of wear and recent neglect.

The company approached a local contractor, offered to share his construction loan cost if he would buy the houses, convert them to modern apartments, sell these to the Philadelphia Housing Authority for use as low-cost rentals.

When all was done 116 families had homes they could take pride in; the housing authority had acquired needed new units at a fair price; the contractor had made an honest profit; and the company which brainstormed the idea found its total cash outlay a mere $4,000.

INSPIRED by such success, the firm branched out into a business experience program, a basic skills training program, providing playground facilities and creating an information clearinghouse to assist neighborhood residents.

Again the results were striking: more money than the program cost was saved by reduced neighborhood welfare and unemployment compensation rolls. Even greater was the gain in that intangible called human dignity.

So dramatic were the results achieved by this one firm that Pennsylvania legislators passed a Neighborhood Assistance Act, which encouraged similar projects by offering tax credit to businesses for such outlays.

THE PROBLEMS of massive cities are too urgent to be met only with unproved programs which may work only in theory; the practical horse sense of American business must be harnessed to the task, if the nation is to achieve truly substantial and lasting benefits for the urban poor.

Lyndon Johnson's Arcane Role Adds To Democrats' Discontent

CHICAGO — Against the sweep of world events, what has been happening here has the look of a curiously outmoded game. The players are going through the motions with a semblance of the old fervor, the passion, the partisanship, and yet, it is a strong suspicion, they are not convinced of the relevance of the organized chaos that is a national convention.

Vietnam, Czechoslovakia, inflation, strikes — strikes in Chicago threatening to make the very conduct of the convention difficult if not impossible — these are the harsh realities.

Humphrey, McCarthy, McGovern, Teddy Kennedy, they are good men. But measured against the turbulence shaking foundations of order and civility everywhere, they seem to fall short of the terrible demands of the time. That is the reason the delegates here appeared to be groping through a fog of uncertainty as though somewhere was the man who could lead the way out of the swamp.

"The Big Fellow called me last night." The interlocutor is not permitted to pass on just what the Big Fellow said.

THE PARADOX of Lyndon Johnson's career, his place in history, is abundantly clear at this turning point in his life. He has been a doer, a creator, a forward mover and shaker. The domestic record in Congress for the past five years leaves no doubt of that. Whether it was enough in the light of the swift erosion of the old order is another matter.

These achievements are obscured, and this is the essence of the paradox, by the self-defeating qualities of his temperament — that is, by an ego so outsize, complemented by a self-defense mechanism that makes frank and open relationships with colleagues and co-workers all but impossible. Secretive, suspicious, withholding decisions of the highest import from his closest associates and even his family to the last minute, vindictive, jealous, permitting no tree to grow in the shadow of the giant oak — this is the indictment against him.

This same indictment might be brought against almost any man of power in high office. But it applies with special force to Johnson as the time approaches to lay down power. For he can hardly hope for the place in history that he so understandably yearns for if the end is a shambles with the running sore of the most unpopular war in America's history.

One of the self-defeating qualities is that he can never, except by the most circuitous indirection, acknowledge and rectify an error of the past. So the commitment in Vietnam has grown and grown and grown.

BUT THAT is the past. The power the President still holds must be exercised to try to salvage what can be salvaged for the future. Presumably, this means an heir who would at least respect the Johnson tradition.

Would Johnson be unhappy if Richard Nixon were elected President? That question has been asked with overtones of sorrow and suspicion by delegates doubting that a winning combine could be put together in Chicago.

Consider his position with a Republican President in the White House. Johnson would still be titular leader of his party. It would have been demonstrated that no Democrat had been able to succeed him. There would be no rivalry from a Democratic chief executive calling the turns on policy.

As an ex-President, Johnson would be ideally equipped for the role of elder statesman. The pilgrimmage to the ranch on the Pedernales would be endless. And Nixon would be only too eager to call on his predecessor, just as Johnson has turned to former President Eisenhower, when the going was rough.

Already suspicious Democrats see a Johnson-Nixon axis. The President has ordered not only Nixon himself but five of his associates to be briefed on all foreign-policy developments. When Nixon visited the ranch after his nomination, he gave firm assurance of his opposition to anyone calling for a complete halt in the bombing or unilateral withdrawal from Vietnam. In the diplomatic language of the past, a cordial entente was established.

Test Of A Dictator: Ouster Of Benefactors

By WILBUR G. LANDREY

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)— President Juan Carlos Ongania of Argentina has passed the acid test for any man brought to power by a military coup.

He has retired, if not fired, the men who put him in power. So far, there have been no repercussions.

His order retiring the commanders in chief of the army, air force and navy effective Oct. 4 was convincing proof that Ongania is firmly in control of South America's second largest country after Brazil. But it again raises the question of where Argentina is heading, economically as well as politically.

ONGANIA, 53, himself a former army commander in chief, came out of retirement to assume the presidency in June, 1966, after a lightning military coup toppled constitutionally elected President Arturo U. Illia.

The man who actually gave Illia the boot was Lt. Gen. Julio R. Alsogaray, then commander of the 1st Army. He led his tanks to the Casa Rosada government house and personally told Illia to get out. Behind Alsogaray and his army stood the other two members of the junta, Brig. Gen. Adolfo Teodoro Alvarez, commander of the air force, and Adm. Benigno I. Varela, commander of the navy.

The three of them asked Ongania to head a new government. And Alsogaray's reward for leading the revolution was promotion to army commander in chief.

These are the three men Ongania retired last Saturday in a move officially explained as part of the normal rotation of commands.

IT IS, INDEED, tradition here to change commands every two years. But Ongania's action at this particule time is bound to have political implications as well.

Alsogaray, 50, is influential in political as well as military circles as is considered a liberal in both. In Argentina, the liberals favor capitalistic free enterprise at home, economic integration abroad and a return to the country's traditionally democratic government.

The other two retired commanders also were considered liberals, but to a lesser degree than Alsogaray. The three men Ongania named to replace them —Gen. Alejandro Lanusse of the army, Brig. Gen. Jorge Miguel Martinez Zuviria of the air force and Vice Adm. Pedro Gnavi of the navy—are considered nationalists.

Argentina's nationalists are outspokenly cool to regional or continental integration. And some favor drastic changes in governing institutions that their rivals claim amount to advocating a corporate state.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

Little Calm For College Board, But Many Seek To Serve On It

The Marin Junior College District board has had a pretty stormy year, what with one thing and another — and several I-J reporters can testify that the frequent board meetings were often still in session at midnight.

There doesn't seem to be a great likelihood, either, that the coming school year, either at the College of Marin or any other college campus, is to be marked by long periods of calm.

None of this, however, has daunted a large field of candidates ready to jump into the fray and serve as a college trustee. A vacancy caused by the resignation of Alan D. Ewen Aug. 2 has already brought applications from 11 candidates.

THE ELEVEN, all men and all holders of college degrees themselves, are otherwise of varying backgrounds.

One is a Negro, one of Chinese ancestry, one has only lived in the country two years, some have been very active in local affairs, and for some, this seems to be the first try at civic affairs.

Edward D. Wachsman, San Rafael insurance man, is a former county planning commissioner who has applied for the post before and once ran as a Democrat for assemblyman. Wachsman also said in his application that he served as both vice president and president of College of Marin student body in his undergraduate days.

Although Wachsman seems to be the only candidate who attended College of Marin, none of the applicants lacks in education.

Dr. Robert Lee, a professor at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, is also an author and lecturer who is included in "Who's Who in America" for his work.

Cal L. Thacker of Novato also has an education background and is dean of Cogswell Polytechnic College in San Francisco.

Another educator is Edward O. Hascall, of Mill Valley, associate professor of education at San Francisco State College, who is also a psychologist.

A newcomer to Marin who has applied for the post is Charles W. Gray of San Rafael, who has lived here two years. Gray, director of employee relations for I. Magnin and Co., served as chairman of the Illinois Fair Employment Practics Commission.

The advertising business is represented by Hugh T. McCann Jr. of San Rafael, a San Francisco account executive, who holds a law degree from the University of Virginia. McCann is board president of the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

The youngest man to apply, apparently, is Michael R. Peevey, 30, of San Rafael, who is co-chairman of the Marin Transportation Action Committee and a director of Northern California Council of Churches. Peevey, director of research for the California Labor Federation, is a member of several conservation groups.

Donald K. Felt, 34, of Mill Valley, is a San Francisco attorney who worked for the passage of Mill Valley's peace proposal last spring. William J. Jackson of Lucas Valley is a retired Army man who has worked as a counselor at Marin County Juvenile Hall for several years and is now unit supervisor there.

Two San Rafael men, Bernard J. Kerns, a real estate broker who has been active in Terra Linda and served as president of the Terra Linda Rotary Club, and Robert W. Sieker Jr., district traffic planning engineer for the California Division of Highways, round out the list.

THERE IS STILL time before Sept. 20 for more candidates to apply, however, and board President Theodore C. Wellman said the candidates will be interviewed at a special meeting of the trustees late in September.

The new trustee will not be committing himself to a long-term position — the term he will fill is up June 30, 1969.

McCARTHY'S KIDS

Youthful Backers Grow Up Too Fast

By JEAN HELLER

CHICAGO (AP) — They came naive to fight a war where even professionals are fortunate to survive. They lost. Shaken, saddened, unsure where to turn, they learned a grim political lesson.

They are the young people who call themselves McCarthy's Kids. (See other convention stories page 1, page 10.)

For nine months they worked to nominate Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy as president. They committed themselves to that possibility, for some the first real adult commitment they ever made.

QUICK DEATH

It died on the floor of a crowded convention hall in the middle of a rank stockyard in a city torn by violence.

It was a fast, tough way to grow up.

Harry Watson, 19, of Greensboro, N. C., who joined McCarthy last March, slipped on a black arm band with a button that read, "Don't think, follow. Don't talk, shoot. It's the American way."

A MAYBE

"Of course I'm bitter," Watson said. "I guess I expected this but there was always a maybe. I don't know what I hope for now. I don't really have any hopes left."

That became abundantly clear last night as some 500 young McCarthy supporters sat on the mezzanine of a beseiged Conrad Hilton Hotel and watched the Democratic National Convention nominate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as its presidential candidate.

As McCarthy held a news conference nearby, his young supporters sat on the floor and sang, "We Shall Overcome."

For three hours, the McCarthy Kids search for something to do, somehere to go, something to say. Some talked of a fourth party. Some spoke of trying to do on a local level what they failed to do on a national level. Some simply went home to bed.

"We're not giving up," said Lynn Bluett, 19, of Chicago. "What would we do? Leave the country? Forget the country's problems exist? That wouldn't solve anything."

Assault Complaint Dismissed In Court

Crowell was arrested after a fight Monday at an Ignacio drive-in restaurant in which, sheriff's deputies said, one man was struck with a catsup bottle.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Raises' And 'Increments' In School Salary Budgets

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

California school districts have now all adopted their 1968-69 budgets and submitted them to county boards of supervisors for setting of tax rates.

Some persons who have followed the budgeting process, however, may have become puzzled over an apparent inconsistency. They may have noticed, for instance, that although it was announced teachers received a 5 per cent pay raise, the payroll went up considerably more than that.

There is an explanation.

EACH SCHOOL district has a salary schedule. Teachers are placed on the schedule on the bases of experience, education beyond the bachelor's degree, and years with the particular district.

Each teacher except those at the top of the scale gets an automatic annual increase by going up one step for one more year in the district. Typically, such a step amounts to about $300 per year.

Thus, there is a raise without any change in the basic schedule. So a 5 per cent schedule raise means an increase of 5 per cent plus the annual increment. For a teacher at $6,000 (the new state minimum) the increase would be $615 ($300 for one step up the scale plus $315 for an additional 5 per cent) or an actual raise of just over 10 per cent.

TEACHERS, however, do not recognize the annual increment as a raise in pay. "Salary Trends," a publication circulated to its members by the Bay Section of the California Teachers Association, once explained the position thus:

"The California teaching profession, through policies adopted by the State Council of Education in December, 1963, has stated its point of view that 'annual increments are payments for experience and the increased proficiency of service it brings. Acquisition of an increment should never be defined as a raise'."

The same issue of "Salary Trends" went on to report:

"A few weeks ago, one Bay Area school district business office announced through the local press (that a way had been found to give the teaching staff a '6 per cent package raise.' The CTA chapter leadership then learned, through careful reading of their district's press release, the proposed '6 per cent package' included their increments. . . . Fortunately for education and the profession, few districts will complicate present-day negotiations by resorting to such tactics in the public press."

THE CTA PUBLICATION suggested that, when confronted with the argument that $300 per year is a raise whatever it is called: "It might be pointed out that other occupational groups follow similar practices in measuring and reporting salary adjustments, without controversy. In public service, particularly, an individual's change of 'pay grade' is not termed a 'raise.' When salary adjustments are reported for firemen, police, city, county and other government employees, increases and per cents mentioned do not include advancement of individuals to higher pay grades and classifications."

The CTA publication neglected to point out that the typical salary schedule for teachers includes 10 to 15 annual steps without advancement in grade. Double steps may be made by those who add sufficiently to their post-graduate credits. And there are special increments, not included in the scale, for advancements in grade, such as appointments as counselor, dean, department head, assistant principal, etc.

The situation with police and firemen, for instance, is quite different. The typical salary schedule for a police patrolman has three steps. He reaches the top in three years. He gets no further raise unless the scale is increased or he is promoted to higher grade (detective or sergeant). There is no automatic annual increase for him after he has completed his apprentice period. And promotion can come only as vacancies occur.

Those who wonder about that "5 per cent raise" and what it did to the school budget should bear this difference in mind.

Fires Blackening Los Angeles Area

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

As 700 firemen fought to contain a stubborn 20,000-acre fire in the Angeles National Forest, three more fires erupted yesterday in Los Angeles County.

Flames swept 100 acres near Lake Hughes west of Palmdal, 20 acres in Sunland and a few telephone poles in an oil sump near Los Angeles Harbor.

The national forest blaze remained 90 per cent contained along a 35 mile perimeter, with firemen trying to snuff out the remaining 1,000 acre hot spot six miles north of Duarte, northeast of Los Angeles. Officials expected containment tonight.

Meanwhile, a preliminary report from the U.S. Forest Service Laboratory in Riverside attempted to pinpoint how seven teen-aged fire fighters and their captain died Saturday in the second day of the Angeles Forest fire. The report said they died when a burst of flame was shipped by violent wind through a small canyon in 30 to 60 seconds.

"A fire in this steep topography would take just a short time to make a very violent turn," said Carl C. Wilson, head of the laboratory.

Belveron Group To Hold Family Picnic Sept. 29

Belveron Homeowners Association members last night agreed to sponsor a family picnic day at Paradise Park on Sept. 29, Mrs. Gloria Quinan, association treasurer, reported.

Members also heard that the association made a new porfit of $550 from its Fourth of July festival and agreed to hold a similar one again next year, Mrs. Quinan said.

The assocaition will not hold a regular meeting in September because of the picnic.

Woman Cuts Arm In Saw Accident

Mrs. Elizabeth Reagan of 869 Flaxberry Lane, Marinwood, who cut her left hand on power saw at her home yesterday, was listed in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Marinwood firemen, called to the home at 8:55 a.m. yesterday, gave her first aid until an ambulance arrived to take her to the hospital.

Woman Leaps To Death From Span

A 22-year-old San Francisco woman leaped to her death from Golden Gate Bridge at 2:10 p.m. yesterday.

Two witnesses told the California Highway Patrol they saw the young woman climb the rail near the south tower and jump. The patrol said an unidentified pedestrian ran toward her ash she climbed the railing, but was too late.

A drift marker was thrown from the bridge but the Coast Guard had not recovered the body by mid-morning today.

Bridge employees found a coat and straw hat on the sidewalk where the woman jumped. Identification in a purse indicated she was Bonita F. Batts.

Highway patrolman reached Mrs. Batts' husband, Oscar Batts, who said they had been married five weeks. Batts checked the office where his wife worked and learned she had left at noon and did not return, the highway patrol said.

Bagley To Talk To Civic Council

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, will address the Marin Council for Civic Affairs at 8 p.m. today in Room 400 at the Civic Center.

Jack Schoop of Marinwood will be acting chairman in the absence of chairman Walter E. Zurcher, who is recovering from surgery at Ross General Hospital.

Schoop said Bagley was given no specific topic, but will probably discuss the Golden Gate Bridge and various legislation concerning the bridge and highway district.
